DE VALERA STILL DEFIES ENGLISH

Fears That Hostilities Will Reopen Before Another Week Has Elapsed —Irish Parliament in Secret Session.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Dublin, Aug. 17—Eamonn de Valera, head of the Sinn Fein government, today turned down the English peace proposals. This action had been foreshadowed in his defiant speech of Tuesday opening Dail Eireann when he said that the Sinn Fein insisted upon an Irish republic and could not negotiate with the English government becabuse it had no principle.

There is every prospect that the armistice will be broken off and hostilities will reopen in Ireland before another week has elapsed. Leaders of the Irish republican army declared at the opening of Dail Eireann that they would not attack the English unless they were attacked first, but it is known that the radical republicans in the Cork area have been clamoring for a reopening of warfare against the British and the Sinn Fein chieftains have had a hard time restraining them.

When the truce went into effect both the Irish and the English gave pledges that a reasonable time would be given by both sides if it was decided to end the armistice.

English troops on leave of absence are returning to their regiments in Ireland, indicating that the British government believes that fighting may be renewed at any time.

Dail Eireann met in secret session today for a detailed personal report by de Valera on his peace negotiations with Premier Lloyd-George.

The Irish press was not entirely sympathetic with the attitude taken by de Valera and the heads of the Irish republican army. The Irish Times, in its editorial comment, said:

"Premier Lloyd-George's offer was everything that the heart and the nation could desire. We are convinced that Dail Eireann will not withhold peace from Ireland because they are patriotic men and women. We pray that wisdom will guide their counsels in the cold gray dawn which is breaking over Ireland's darkened skies. May there burst through the leaden clouds God's glorious sunshine in the form of blessed peace."

There was an imposing scene at Mansion House when the second session of parliment opened. Crowds waited for hours for the doors to open for it had been advertised that the first part of the session would be open to the public. All available positions were taken before the 127 members were in their seats. Soldiers of the Irish republican army, who had been wounded in battle with British soldiers and policemen were given seats of honor. Some hobbled on canes and others still wore bandages over their wounds.

"We cannot and will not accept the English peace tearms," said de Valera in an address to the members. The Irish people are not going to be fooled this time. Ireland has not been offered dominion status. The Almighty placed Ireland as the neighbor of Britain and the Irish desired to be neighborly and if Britian were wise she would be friendly. We do not desire to close up England's routes to the seas."

De Valera, Michael Collins, Commander-in-chief of the Irish republican army, and Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein, occupied the ministerial bench in the front row of the meeting.

De Valera continued:

"We are prepared to make any sacrifices towards Ulster to make Ireland one whole nation and to prevent partition."

The following order was read to all officers and men of the ranks of the Irish republican army:

"Communications between the Irish republican goverment and the British Government have been made public and serve to emphasize towards the officers and men of the Irish republican army the paramount importance of being prepared for every contingency that may arise from a military viewpoint.

London, Aug. 17.—"There is no secret that powerful anti-English influences have been at work in Ireland in the last few days endeavoring to destroy the atmosphere of peace," said the Daily Express today in commenting upon the Irish situation. The political correspondent of the Daily Express was inclined to believe that Eamonn de Valera's speech was not the decisive Sinn Fein answer to the English offer.

The Daily News forecast that the English government would never recognize Ireland as a republic.

The London Times said that the members of the Sinn Fein parliament may take it for a fact that the English mind is made up and that "no rhetoric, no sophistry and no appeal to violence can move the electorates of Britain and her dominions to yield on the one cardinal point upon which the constitution of the empire rests." That one cardinal point, the Times points out, is loyalty to the king and admission of the sovereignty of the British government over the British Empire.

Bergdoll Is Missing.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Berlin, Aug. 17.—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, the millionaire draft dodger who disappeared from his home in Eberbach, Baden, last week, was still missing today and his friends and relatives said they had received no word from him. It is believed at Eberbach that Bergdoll has fled from the country. He was last seen in a high powered automobile riding towards the Swiss frontier.

RAILWAY OUTLAWS AGAIN ACTIVE

Making Plans for Sporadic Strikes and to Bring About Secession From the Big Four and the A. F. of L.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 17.—The "outlaw" railroad workers have become active again.

Under the leadership of John Gruneau of Chicago the "outlaw" workers are making preparations to throw transportation into chaos through sporadic strikes and to bring about a nation wide secession movement from the ranks of the "Big Four" brotherhoods and the American Federation of Labor railroad unions, according to information received here today in official labor circles.

Their goal is said to be one big union movement of all railroad workers. They have sent agitators, according to advices, into railroad districts, particularly in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and the middle west to stir up the already dissatisfied and restless railroad workers to revolt against the leaders of the unions.

Their operations, it is claimed, are part of a widespread movement to incite revolt until the "One Big Union" idea has swept the great mass of organized labor. They are said to be linked in their activities with elements in the American Federation of Labor, "boring from within" under the inspiration of William Z. Foster, leading spirit in last year's steel strike. Before his departure for Russia to attend the "Third Internationale" and confer with Lenine and other Bolshevist leaders, Foster laid the seed for a campaign to organize all the railroad crafts into one union along lines of the Federation of Railroad Workers in England, it is declared in labor circles here.

Gruneau has declared that 15,000 members of the American Federation of Labor railroad unions on the Pennsylvania system are ready to revolt against their leadership and join in his one big union known as the United Federation of Railroad Employes. He has also announced that the marine firemen, oilers and water tenders' union affiliated with the railway employes' department of the American Federation of Labor are drawing its membership from the ferryboats, has applied for a charter in his organization through its president, P. Lynch, of New York city.

Leaders here express apprehension over Gruneau's activities. The railroad workers chafing under the reins held by their leaders to keep in line, "sore" at wage cuts and the attitude of the carrier on working rules and conditions, offer fertile field to the "one big union" agitators, they say, and an "outlaw" strike at this time "would spread like wildfire" causing havoc not only to the railroads but the railroad unions.

A large part of Bruneau's organization is made up of secessionists and expelled members of the brotherhood of trainmen, it is charged.

LABORERS STRIKE FOR HIGHER PAY

Men Employed on New Garage Demand Advance to 50 Cents an Hour—Two Men Remain at Work.

About a dozen men employed by Ludke Brothers, contractors of Auburn, N. Y., who have the contract for the construction of the large brick and iron garage for John D. Van Kleeck & Company on North Front street, between Fair street and Clinton avenue, went on strike this morning. The men are all residents of this city and quit because their demand for 50 cents an hour was rejected. The strikers are hod carriers, mortar mixers and laborers assisting in carrying iron work. They have been getting 37½ cents an hour and claim that the scale for hod carriers and mortar mixers and masons' helpers is 50 cents. Two of the laborers remained at work.

Killed on Shandaken Tunnel.

One man was killed and two were injured on Sunday while working at Shaft No. 5 of the Shandaken tunnel of the city of New York, which is situated in the town of Lexington, Greene county. The motor which carries excavated rock from the shaft to the spoil bank went over the bank and a cable was attached in order to haul it back. When the cable was pulled taut it came in contact with the high tension electric wire which carries current for the entire work. Robert Waterman, 24 years old, had hold of the cable and was instantly killed. The master mechanic had hold of the cable and probably was saved from death by the fact that he wore rubber boots. However, he was badly burned in three places on his body. Eugene Bloodgood had hold of the cable and the shock threw him so hard to the ground that his leg was injured.

Russia No Longer Dry.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Aug. 17.—The strict anti-alcoholic regulations imposed by the soviet government at Moscow have been rescinded, said a Rig dispatch to the Daily Express today. The government has issued regulations permitting the manufacture and sale of wines. Travellers coming out of Russia recently reported that the country was more dry than America.

CABINET TO PLAN TO FIND WORK

Unemployment a Grave Menace and Can be Dealt With, Says the Comptroller of the Currency.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 17.—Unemployment has reached such proportions that it constitutes a grave menace to the nation unless checked before winter sets in, administration officials said today.

Aroused by the report of Secretary of Labor Davis that there are 5,735,000 unemployed in the United States at this time, cabinet officials have begun consideration of measures to alleviate this condition. Congressional action may also be taken with a view to speeding up the economic readjustment which it is believed is essential to the correction of unemployment.

Unemployment is the result of poor national economic management, according to Eugene Meyer, Jr., director of the War Finance Corporation, who stated today that unless the government acts, there will be a most serious situation for it to confront next winter.

Comptroller of the Currency Crissinger today also urged immediate steps to alleviate the condition of idleness so widespread in this country.

"As an American citizen, I should feel ashamed to go through next winter with five million men idle," Director Meyer said. "There is work for all in this country if we will only manage our affairs with a reasonable degree of intelligence.

"I am not one of those who believe that unemployment over a long period is necessary to work out certain economic theories. I think unemployment is a thing about which something should be done, and can be done.

"It will be a distinct economic asset to the country and of the greatest importance to restore labor to a full degree of employment."

The administration's plan for using the War Finance Corporation to aid the railroads and the farmers will contribute to a reduction in unemployment, Meyer said.

"We want to help agriculture," Meyer said. "The farmer is a great factor in our national prosperity. The nation cannot be prosperous unless the farmer is prosperous."

"Industries which are idle must be put in operation," said Comptroller of the Currency Crissinger. "The railroads need rehabilitation. We must restore some of the credit instrumentalities between the employer and the unemployed."

The whole situation regarding unemployment will probably again be taken up by the cabinet on Friday, it was said today, and at that time it is possible that members of the cabinet may offer a definite program for the administration to carry out.

SOMMERVILLE TO SUMMER IN PEN

Thomas Sentenced to Two Months at Albany—Arrested When He Stole Bag of Muffins From Hotel Ulster —Other Police Court Cases.

Thomas Sommerville, 19 years old, who was recently "fired" by Nathan J. Cook of the Hotel Ulster, walked into the kitchen of the hotel Tuesday afternoon armed with a large paper bag and helped himself to about three dozen of fresh muffins that the cook had just taken from the kitchen range.

As Thomas left the hotel he was observed, and Proprietor Cook called to Officer Frank Fatum to stop him. The officer did so and brought Thomas back with the muffins, and later escorted Thomas and his muffins to the city hall.

This morning in police court it was brought out that Thomas had been working on a farm and that Mr. Cook had given him a job at the hotel, but had been forced to discharge him. An investigation of Thomas brought out the fact that he had tried to work the local agent for a brush concern for some brushes by leaving a forged order at the agent's boarding house on Smith avenue.

Judge Schirick decided that the city would be better off with Thomas absent and sentenced him to two months in the penintenary at Albany.

Missing Man Found.

Siguard Johnson, the young man reported missing from Sahler's Sanitarium on Tuesday, was picked up at the West Shore station on Tuesday afternoon by Officer Fatum just as Siguard was about to board the 5 o'clock train. The young man was turned over to the sanitarium attendants.

Ordered Out of Town.

About 9:30 o'clock Tuesday evening policeheadsuarters received word from residents along Albany avenue that there were three strangers acting in a suspicious manner on that street. Officers Dempsey, Roedell and Kuehn were sent to the scene and placed William Pierce, George Haeder and William Wendling, all of Newark, N. J., under arrest. This morning they said that they were on their way to obtain a job on the Shndaken tunnel, and Judge Schirick that they might better be working than to be a charge on the county and gave them twenty minutes to leave the city.

FONTANO ADMITS SEVERAL MURDERS

Confessed Member Of Branch Of Camorra Gives Police List Of Other Members—Six Members Of Gang Already In Custody.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Aug. 7.—Doomed by the American branch of the Sicilian Cammorra to be "roasted to death" because he knew too much, Bartolow Fontano, safe in prison, was today directing New York detectives to the men he claims responsible for fifty one secret killing on the Atlantic seaboard and as far west as Detroit. Fontano himself admits several murders, including one on July 30, at Avon, N. J.

Six men, alleged leaders of the "Bonventre Gang" which Fontano claims is the American branch of the Camorra which has its headquarters in Palermo, Italy, are in custody and more arrests are expected momentarily.

At the command of a chief in Palermo, Fontano says, he murdered Carmillio Caiozzo on July 30. He was told that unless he killed Caiozzo, accused of the murder of the brother of one of the Camorra chieftains, he would be killed himself, he says.

Following the death of Caiozzo, Fontano was told by a fellow member of the same "mysterious fifteen" that he had been marked for death as one who knew too much and that he was to be roasted alive in a Brooklyn bakeshop. Hoping for safety only in some "good prison" Fontano notified Captain Fiaschetti, head of the New York Italian squad that he had important information to communicate. Captain Fiaschetti met Fontano on a Broadway corner where the self confessed murderer gave himself up.

Immediately following the arrest of Fontano, telegrams were sent by police to the scenes of many unsolved murders. The first arrest came at Avon, N. J., where Salvatore Gigrazo was captured by police Chief Cook. Gigrazo is accused of operating a murder farm for the Bonventre gang. It was on this farm that Fontano says he shot and killed Caiozzo, who had been lured to the farm to "shoot ducks."

The men arrested are charged with complicity in the death of Caiozzo. They are: Stefano Magadinno, 30, of Brooklyn; Bartolomeo di Gregorio, a baker; Vito Bonzentre, 46, a boot maker; Giuseppe Lombardi, 40, a barber; Mariano Galande, 30, a painter; Francisco Tuma, 27.

The gang is said to be organized here in groups of fifteen and to have nearly half a million dollars in cash for the defense of members who are arrested in connection with its murders. Forty members of the groups are known, police said today, and the arrest of men said to be responsible for recent mysterious killings is scheduled to take place in a raid upon the Italian quarter, the time of which has not yet been announced. Meanwhile every effort is being made to see that none of the wanted men escape. The whole of "Little Italy" is honeycombed with police agents, many of them disguised as immigrants and push cart peddlers.

Following Fontano's trembling confession, Captain Fiaschetti went with him to the Grand Central Station where, disguised as an immigrant, Fiaschetti overheard a conversation between Fontano and Magadinno, in which Magadinno instructed Fontano to proceed to Buffalo to "meet the chief." Immediately Fiaschetti arrested Magadinno, but not without some resistance. Later at police headquarters, Magadinno attacked Fiaschetti, but was torn away by detectives.

Following is a partial list of men Fontano says were slain by the Bonventre gang:

Antonio Mauro, shot before his home on Christie street, New York; John Messina, killed last April on Stanton street, New York; Vincent Alfonzo, murdered on Schiff Parkway, New York; Francesco Finatzzo, whose name was stricken from the list of those to be killed, but the place of whose alleged murder is not known to Fontano. Joseph Lomgo, killed on Christie street. Joseph Ponzo, place of murder not known.

Those killed in Detroit, according to Fontano, were Joseph Buccella, his brother Felice, and their cousin whose name is given as Salvators; Lucca Sarconi; Pietro Bosco and his brother Joseph; Antonio Giannola and his brother Salvatore. All these murders, says Fontano, were recently committed.

Wealthy Italians are involved, both here and in Italy, according to the confession, and at least a dozen new murders were contemplated when Fontano gave himself up.

Mob Burns Negro's Body.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Augusta, Ga., Aug. 17.—A negro's body, believed to be that of Walter Smalley, a negro slain last night in a batte with police, was taken from a hospital here just before dawn today and burned by a mob of armed men. The charred body was then taken back to the hospital. Smalley was slain by police after he had killed Benjamin T. Hightower, foreman of a wagon works where Smalley was employed and then killed W. W. Moore, a policeman who sought to arrest him. Eight others were wounded by the negro, who armed with a shotgun, fought off pursuing police.

BOYS SQUANDERED MOTHER'S MONEY

Levine Brothers Helped Themselves To Contents of Mama's Pocketbook And Went on Spending Spree With Alfred Meyers.

"What have we here!" quoth Officer Fred Fout Tuesday evening about 10 o'clock as he ran across three little boys with their arms loaded with rubber balls and bags of candy. The three were Norman and Isadore Levine of 61 Newkirk avenue, and Alfred Meyers of No. 76 West Union street, aged 7, 5 and 9 years respectively. The boys told such a strange tale that the officer thought it best to take them to the city hall.

There Isadore told the police that during the afternoon he had helped himself to thirty dollars from his mother's pocketbook and the three had started out on a shopping trip. The boys' mother was notified and verified the tale told by her sons. Later in the evening the three boys were taken home by their elder brothers. Isadore had $2.05 and Meyers $1.29 left of the original thirty dollars.

SMALL ABANDONS PLAN TO FIGHT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 17.—The sudden collapse of the "war" plans of Governor Len Small of Illinois was due to family "pressure" it was learned here today.

The governor, it was reported, has abandoned all plans to delay his trial on charges of misusing $2,500,000 in state interest funds and to test the legality of his arrest. In this decision, the governor entirely ignored the wishes of his legal advisers. He finally surrendered, his intimates said, to the pleas of Mrs. Small and members of the family.

The strain of his legal difficulties on members of his family it was said, had seriously concerned the governor. Since the issuance of bench warrants for the governor's arrest, Mrs. Smal, has gone into retirement at the family home in Kankakee. It was her wish, it was said, that the governor abandon his "war" plans and go into court with the sole purpose of repudiating the charges brought against him in the Sangamon court.

The governor, through counsel, late yesterday accepted the offer of State's Attorney Mortimer to a change of venue from this county. The acceptance was based on four claims, the principal one of which retained the right to file any future action on any phase of the case excepting change of venue.

All four clauses were accepted by the state's attorney in a reply made public here. The state's attorney declared his first offer had held no "catch," the governor's counsel having taken exception to certain wording.

Mortimer also agreed to the governor's suggestion that attorneys for both sides agree upon another county in which the case shall be tried. He announced that Judge E. S. Smith, who issued the bench warrants for Small's arrest, would designate the circuit judge to decide the petition for a change of venue. This petition will be heard Tuesday, September 6. The jurist will be either Frank B. Burton or Judge Norman L. Jones.

The habeas corpus proceedings which the governor's counsel had insisted would be his "trump card" is apparently abandoned by the chief executive's most recent move. His attorneys, however, retained the right to file this action in asking for the change of venue. The state's attorney also agreed that the governor had not waived his right to this action. The test, however, now is a very remote possibility.

$1,000,000 FIRE IN GREENPOINT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Aug. 17.—Damage estimated at a million dollars was done by a fire that destroyed an entire square block of buildings in the Greenpoint section of Brooklyn early today.

The point at which the fire started is not far from the Greenpoint plant of the Standard Oil Company. A short distance off are a group of big gas tanks, and for some time fears were felt that the conflagration would spread to these danger points and get beyond control.

The neighborhood is one of frame dwellings and wooden industrial plants, and as soon as the serious nature of the fire was seen, the police began turning residents out of their homes. Hundreds fled to the street in their night clothing and watched the firemen work.

The fire marshal's office is investigating the cause of the blaze, which has not yet been determined.

Ireland a Republic.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Dublin, Aug. 17.—Ireland was formerly proclaimed a republic in a general order issued to the Irish republican army today. "The (Irish) republic exists now and always will exist," said one sentence of the general order which was addressed to the Sinn Fein military forces.

WILL YOU CASH A $21,000 CHECK?

Asked William H. Fogg Twombly on Tuesday as He Entered the Columbia Shop on Fair Street—Then He Was Nabbed by Officer Simpson.

William H. Fogg Twombly came to Kingston on Tuesday with a check book and spent the afternoon visiting around and shopping. As the weather was somewhat warm he entered an ice cream parlor and ordered an ice cream soda, and as he quaffed it he smacked his lips in appreciation.

As he drained the glass to the last drop he leaned back in his chair and inquired affably "and how much is my bill, please?"

"Eleven cents," replied the young lady waitress brickly.

"Just a second," said William H. Fogg Twombly, and he pulled out a check book and drew up a check for $60. "Take the amount of the bill out of that," he said with a smile, and was greatly offended when the check was refused.

"That's the last of my patronage you may expect," said he as he flung a dime and a cent on the table and strode of the ice cream parlor with the rejected check in his pocket.

Among other places he visited was Forsyth & Davis, where he spoke of purchasing an automobile.

In his various visits around among the uptown merchants word of his arrival with a check book reached the ears of Officer James V. Simpson, who was on the uptown beat that afternoon.

Shortly afterward William H. and all the rest of him entered the Columbia Shop on Fair street and as William S. McDonough, the genial proprietor, stepped forward Mr. Twombly asked "Will you kindly cash a check for $21,000 for me, please?"

He handed the check to Mr. McDonough who glanced it over and then took another and more thorough glance at the check drawer. Just at that instant Officer Simpson stepped in. Mr. McDonough with a smile handed the officer the check.

Mr. Twombly was escorted to police headquarters and later in the day was taken to his home in West Hurley by Sergeant Phinney and Officer Kuehn in the police car. It was said that he was suffering from a nervous trouble and was not accountable for his actions.

THIS DUKE HAD A DOZEN WIVES

At Least That Is What He Told Judge Schirick, Who Was Inclined To Think That Duke Slightly Exaggerated The Number And Held Him For Observation.

"Are you married?" asked Judge Schirick as he glanced at George Duke, 30 years old, who was arraigned before him this morning on a charge of acting in a suspicious manner. George was picked up on Fair street about 7 o'clock Tuesday evening by Officer James V. Simpson.

"Yes your honor I have had a dozen wives," replied Mr. Duke briskly.

"Where's your last one?" asked the court with a smile.

"Oh I killed her, and my father helped me bury her out in the yard," replied Mr. Duke with another engaging smile.

"I'll hold you for observation," was the response made by Judge Schirick, and he remanded Duke to the county jail to be examined as to his sanity.

Just where Duke lives is unknown by the police at the present time but he walked into Kingston from Saugerties Tuesday afternoon following the West Shore railroad tracks.

The local police called up Captain Richter of the Saugerties police and was informed that Duke had been in that village that afternoon and while there had called on the Saugerties bank and asked them to cash a check for $50,000, which, of course, they had refused to do.

While walking into Kingston that afternoon Duke picked up an envelope that had blown out of the baggage car of Train No. 11, running from New York to Albany, and thereby greatly relieved the mind of the baggage master on that train for it contained the receipts for all baggage between Weehawken and the end of the run. The trainmaster spent some sleepless hours until he learned that the receipts had been found and were in the hands of Detective Goodsell of the West Shore force. Duke had picked up the receipts between Mr. Marion and Saugerties.

Duke presented a somewhat disreputable appearance in court this morning, and his conversation was such that it led to court and police believing that he was insane which was the reason for Judge Schirick holding him for observation by the jail physician.

MARLBOROUGH HAD EXCITING TIME

Newburgh Hootch Drinkers Created Disturbance at Milton Hotel and Stirred Many Officers Into Action.

John and Nicholas Purcell, brothers, living at Newburgh, were brought to the Ulster county jail on Tuesday night to serve sentences of sixty days each for assault committed Monday night at McCabe's Hotel at Milton, where with two other young men of Newburgh they created a disturbance which resulted in an exciting chase before they were captured.

The Purcell brothers, in company with Harry Wakeford and Fred Yerrance, both of Newburgh, drove to McCabe's Hotel Monday evening in Wakeford's automobile. They asked for whiskey at the hotel and were told there was nothing of the kind there. Thereupon they produced some whiskey they had brought with them and drank it. The whiskey evidently was of the well known "hootch" brand, judging from what followed. The young men proceeded to take possession of the place and to make themselves at home.

They broke some glasses, bottles and windows and one of them is said to have opened the cash register, but inquiry afterward disclosed that if the cash register had been opened not more than 25 cents had been taken. Yerrance is said to have put his hand through a broken window pane, causing a severe cut.

A telephone call was sent from the hotel to Deputy Sheriff Harry Elliott, who started for the hotel in an automobile. On the way he met a car containing four young men and on reaching the hotel learned that the disturbers had left and taken the direction from which he had come. He turned his car and went in pursuit.

Meanwhile the state troopers and Newburgh police had received exaggerated reports of what had taken place and started out to find the autoists. Newburgh police guessed correctly who was in the party from the description which had been telephoned of the car and its occupants. Later a telephone from a state trooper announced he had caught the party at Middle Hope but wanted help. Two automobiles filled with Newburgh officers and ex-officers started to his aid and a dozen other cars, attracted by the spectacle, followed. When they arrived at Middle Hope they found there had been a similar rush from Highland and Milton, because news had spread that there had been a hold-up.

Yerrance, one of the quartet, was bleeding from the cut in his wrist and his clothing was torn. Recently he had some bridgework placed in his mouth but this had been knocked away from a blow on the jaw.

An attempt had been made to capture the quartet near Marlborough by placing an automobile across the road, but the Newburghers managed to get around it. The trooper on duty there had opened fire on the Wakeford car, trying to hit the tires. He succeeded in putting a hole in the gas tank and the car soon halted. Some of the party refused to get out of the car at the trooper's command, and it was then the call was sent to Newburgh for help. The fight which loosened the bridgework in Yerrance's mouth occurred about that time.

The four prisoners were taken to Dr. Palmer's office at Marlborough, where Nick Purcell managed to get away from his captors while their attention was engaged elsewhere. He walked quietly through the crowd and had gone fifty yards before anyone noticed him. Then he was pursued by a large part of the crowd. He was unacquainted with the locality and ran in a blind alley, where he was caught.

When arraigned before Justice of the Peace Kaley Tuesday afternoon the four men were found guilty. The Purcell brothers were committed to the Ulster county jail for sixty days each; Yerrance was sentenced to six months' jail imprisonment but execution of the sentence was suspended; Wakeford was fined $20.

KU KLUX KLAN HOLDS INITIATION

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—Details of Chicago's first Ku Klux Klan initiation in which 2,376 men were made members of the order, became known here today.

The initiation, conducted with weird rites and much secrecy, was held on a prairie thirty-four miles from the city while a drizzling rain fell on the white robed figures. The Klansmen stood ankle deep in mud and slush and ghostly fires burned as the neophytes took the oath of allegiance to the "invisible empire."

A procession of 2,000 automobiles carried the Klansmen to the scene of the initiation, more than 7,000 white-robed men participating.

Soldiers of the Irish republican army, who had been wounded in battle with British soldiers and policemen were given seats of honor. Some hobbled on canes and others still wore bandages over their wounds.

"We cannot and will not accept the English peace tearms," said de Valera in an address to the members. The Irish people are not going to be fooled this time. Ireland has not been offered dominion status. The Almighty placed Ireland as the neighbor of Britain and the Irish desired to be neighborly and if Britian were wise she would be friendly. We do not desire to close up England's routes to the seas."

De Valera, Michael Collins, Commander-in-chief of the Irish republican army, and Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein, occupied the ministerial bench in the front row of the meeting.

De Valera continued:

"We are prepared to make any sacrifices towards Ulster to make Ireland one whole nation and to prevent partition."

The following order was read to all officers and men of the ranks of the Irish republican army:

"Communications between the Irish republican goverment and the British Government have been made public and serve to emphasize towards the officers and men of the Irish republican army the paramount importance of being prepared for every contingency that may arise from a military viewpoint.

London, Aug. 17.—"There is no secret that powerful anti-English influences have been at work in Ireland in the last few days endeavoring to destroy the atmosphere of peace," said the Daily Express today in commenting upon the Irish situation. The political correspondent of the Daily Express was inclined to believe that Eamonn de Valera's speech was not the decisive Sinn Fein answer to the English offer.

The Daily News forecast that the English government would never recognize Ireland as a republic.

The London Times said that the members of the Sinn Fein parliament may take it for a fact that the English mind is made up and that "no rhetoric, no sophistry and no appeal to violence can move the electorates of Britain and her dominions to yield on the one cardinal point upon which the constitution of the empire rests." That one cardinal point, the Times points out, is loyalty to the king and admission of the sovereignty of the British government over the British Empire.

Dreyfuss Is Missing.

By Telegraph to the Freeman.

Berlin, Aug. 17.—Grover Cleveland Dreyfuss, the millionaire draft dodger who disappeared from his home in Eberbach, Baden, last week, was still missing today and his friends and relatives said they had received no word from him. It is believed at Eberbach that Dreyfuss has fled from the country. He was last seen in a high powered automobile riding towards the Swiss frontier.

RAILWAY OUTLAWS AGAIN ACTIVE

Making Plans for Sporadic Strikes and to Bring About Secession From the Big Four and the A. F. of L.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 17.—The "outlaw" railroad workers have become active again.

Under the leadership of John Gruneau of Chicago the "outlaw" workers are making preparations to throw transportation into chaos through sporadic strikes and to bring about a nation wide secession movement from the ranks of the "Big Four" brotherhoods and the American Federation of Labor railroad unions, according to information received here today in official labor circles.

Their goal is said to be one big union movement of all railroad workers. They have sent agitators, according to advices, into railroad districts, particularly in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and the middle west to stir up the already dissatisfied and restless railroad workers to revolt against the leaders of the unions.

Their operations, it is claimed, are part of a widespread movement to incite revolt until the "One Big Union" idea has swept the great mass of organized labor. They are said to be linked in their activities with elements in the American Federation of Labor, "boring from within" under the inspiration of William Z. Foster, leading spirit in last year's steel strike. Before his departure for Russia to attend the "Third Internationale" and confer with Lenine and other Bolshevist leaders, Foster laid the seed for a campaign to organize all the railroad crafts into one union along lines of the Federation of Railroad Workers in England, it is declared in labor circles here.

Gruneau has declared that 15,000 members of the American Federation of Labor railroad unions on the Pennsylvania system are ready to revolt against their leadership and join in his one big union known as the United Federation of Railroad Employes. He has also announced that the marine firemen, oilers and water tenders' union affiliated with the railway employes' department of the American Federation of Labor are drawing its membership from the ferryboats, has applied for a charter in his organization through its president, P. Lynch, of New York city.

Leaders here express apprehension over Gruneau's activities. The railroad workers chafing under the reins held by their leaders to keep in line, "sore" at wage cuts and the attitude of the carrier on working rules and conditions, offer fertile field to the "one big union" agitators, they say, and an "outlaw" strike at this time "would spread like wildfire" causing havoc not only to the railroads but the railroad unions.

A large part of Bruneau's organization is made up of secessionists and expelled members of the brotherhood of trainmen, it is charged.

LABORERS STRIKE FOR HIGHER PAY

Men Employed on New Garage Demand Advance to 50 Cents an Hour—Two Men Remain at Work.

About a dozen men employed by Ludke Brothers, contractors of Auburn, N. Y., who have the contract for the construction of the large brick and iron garage for John D. Van Kleeck & Company on North Front street, between Fair street and Clinton avenue, went on strike this morning. The men are all residents of this city and quit because their demand for 50 cents an hour was rejected. The strikers are hod carriers, mortar mixers and laborers assisting in carrying iron work. They have been getting 37½ cents an hour and claim that the scale for hod carriers and mortar mixers and masons' helpers is 50 cents. Two of the laborers remained at work.

Killed on Shandaken Tunnel.

One man was killed and two were injured on Sunday while working at Shaft No. 5 of the Shandaken tunnel of the city of New York, which is situated in the town of Lexington, Greene county. The motor which carries excavated rock from the shaft to the spoil bank went over the bank and a cable was attached in order to haul it back. When the cable was pulled taut it came in contact with the high tension electric wire which carries current for the entire work. Robert Waterman, 24 years old, had hold of the cable and was instantly killed. The motor mechanic had hold of the cable and probably was saved from death by the fact that he wore rubber boots. However, he was badly burned in three places on his body. Eugene Bloodgood had hold of the cable and the shock threw him so hard to the ground that his leg was injured.

Russia No Longer Dry.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Aug. 17.—The strict anti-alcoholic regulations imposed by the soviet government at Moscow have been rescinded, said a wireless dispatch to the Daily Express today. The government has issued regulations permitting the manufacture and sale of wines. Travellers coming out of Russia recently reported that the country was more dry than America.

CABINET TO PLAN TO FIND WORK

Unemployment a Grave Menace and Can be Dealt With, Says the Comptroller of the Currency.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 17.—Unemployment has reached such proportions that it constitutes a grave menace to the nation unless checked before winter sets in, administration officials said today.

Aroused by the report of Secretary of Labor Davis that there are 5,735,000 unemployed in the United States at this time, cabinet officials have begun consideration of measures to alleviate this condition. Congressional action may also be taken with a view to speeding up the economic readjustment which it is believed is essential to the correction of unemployment.

Unemployment is the result of poor national economic management, according to Eugene Meyer, Jr., director of the War Finance Corporation, who stated today that unless the government acts, there will be a most serious situation for it to confront next winter.

Comptroller of the Currency Crissinger today also urged immediate steps to alleviate the condition of idleness so widespread in this country.

"As an American citizen, I should feel ashamed to go through next winter with five million men idle," Director Meyer said. "There is work for all in this country if we will only manage our affairs with a reasonable degree of intelligence.

"I am not one of those who believe that unemployment over a long period is necessary to work out certain economic theories. I think unemployment is a thing about which something should be done, and can be done.

"It will be a distinct economic asset to the country and of the greatest importance to restore labor to a full degree of employment."

The administration's plan for using the War Finance Corporation to aid the railroads and the farmers will contribute to a reduction in unemployment, Meyer said.

"We want to help agriculture," Meyer said. "The farmer is a great factor in our national prosperity. The nation cannot be prosperous unless the farmer is prosperous."

"Industries which are idle must be put in operation," said Comptroller of the Currency Crissinger. "The railroads need rehabilitation. We must restore some of the credit instrumentalities between the employer and the unemployed."

The whole situation regarding unemployment will probably again be taken up by the cabinet on Friday, it was said today, and at that time it is possible that members of the cabinet may offer a definite program for the administration to carry out.

SOMMERVILLE TO SUMMER IN PEN

Thomas sentenced to Two Months at Albany—Arrested When He Stole Bag of Muffins From Hotel Ulster —Other Police Court Cases.

Thomas Sommerville, 19 years old, who was recently "fired" by Nathan J. Cook of the Hotel Ulster, walked into the kitchen of the hotel Tuesday afternoon armed with a large paper bag and helped himself to about three dozen of fresh muffins that the cook had just taken from the kitchen range.

As Thomas left the hotel he was observed, and Proprietor Cook called to Officer Frank Fatum to stop him. The officer did so and brought Thomas back with the muffins, and later escorted Thomas and his muffins to the city hall.

This morning in police court it was brought out that Thomas had been working on a farm and that Mr. Cook had given him a job at the hotel, but had been forced to discharge him. An investigation of Thomas brought out the fact that he had tried to work the local agent for a brush concern for some brushes by leaving a forged order at the agent's boarding house on Smith avenue.

Judge Schirick decided that the city would be better off with Thomas absent and sentenced him to two months in the penitentiary at Albany.

Missing Man Found.

Sigvard Johnson, the young man reported missing from Sabler's Sanitarium on Tuesday, was picked up at the West Shore station on Tuesday afternoon by Officer Fatum just as Sigvard was about to board the 5 o'clock train. The young man was turned over to the sanitarium attendants.

Ordered Out of Town.

About 9:15 o'clock Tuesday evening policeheadquarters received word from residents along Albany avenue that there were three strangers acting in a suspicious manner on that street. Officers Dempsey, Rendell and Kuehn were sent to the scene and placed William Hayes, George Hunter and William Wendling, all of Newark, N. J., under arrest. This morning they said that they were on their way to obtain a job on the Shandaken tunnel, and Judge Schirick felt that they might better be working than to be a charge on the county and gave them twenty minutes to leave the city.

FONTANO ADMITS SEVERAL MURDERS

Confessed Member Of Branch Of Camorra Gives Police List Of Other Members—Six Members Of Gang Already In Custody.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Aug. 7.—Doomed by the American branch of the Sicilian Cammorra to be "roasted to death" because he knew too much, Bartolow Fontano, safe in prison, was today directing New York detectives to the men he claims responsible for fifty one secret killing on the Atlantic seaboard and as far west as Detroit. Fontano himself admits several murders, including one on July 30, at Avon, N. J.

Six men, alleged leaders of the "Bonventre Gang" which Fontano claims is the American branch of the Camorra which has its headquarters in Palermo, Italy, are in custody and more arrests are expected momentarily.

At the command of a chief in Palermo, Fontano says, he murdered Carmillio Caiozzo on July 30. He was told that unless he killed Caiozzo, accused of the murder of the brother of one of the Camorra chieftains, he would be killed himself, he says.

Following the death of Caiozzo, Fontano was told by a fellow member of the same "mysterious fifteen" that he had been marked for death as one who knew too much and that he was to be roasted alive in a Brooklyn bakeshop. Hoping for safety only in some "good prison" Fontano notified Captain Fiaschetti, head of the New York Italian squad that he had important information to communicate. Captain Fiaschetti met Fontano on a Broadway corner where the self confessed murderer gave himself up.

Immediately following the arrest of Fontano, telegrams were sent by police to the scenes of many unsolved murders. The first arrest came at Avon, N. J., where Salvatore Gigrazo was captured by police Chief Cook. Gigrazo is accused of operating a murder farm for the Bonventre gang. It was on this farm that Fontano says he shot and killed Caiozzo, who had been lured to the farm to "shoot ducks."

The men arrested are charged with complicity in the death of Caiozzo. They are Stefano Magadinno, 30, of Brooklyn; Bartolomeo di Gregorio, a baker; Vito Bonzentre, 46, a boot-maker; Giuseppe Lombardi, 40, a barber; Mariano Galande, 30, a painter; Francisco Tuma, 27.

The gang is said to be organized here in groups of fifteen and to have nearly half a million dollars in cash for the defense of members who are arrested in connection with its murders. Forty members of the groups are known, police said today, and the arrest of men said to be responsible for recent mysterious killings is scheduled to take place in a raid upon the Italian quarter, the time of which has not yet been announced. Meanwhile every effort is being made to see that none of the wanted men escape. The whole of "Little Italy" is honeycombed with police agents, many of them disguised as immigrants and push cart peddlers.

Following Fontano's trembling confession, Captain Fiaschetti went with him to the Grand Central Station where, disguised as an immigrant, Fiaschetti overheard a conversation between Fontano and Magadinno, in which Magadinno instructed Fontano to proceed to Buffalo to "meet the chief." Immediately Fiaschetti arrested Magadinno, but not without some resistance. Later at police headquarters, Magadinno attacked Fiaschetti, but was torn away by detectives.

Following is a partial list of men Fontano says were slain by the Bonventre gang:

Antonio Mauro, shot before his home on Christie street, New York; John Messina, killed last April on Stanton street, New York; Vincent Alfonzo, murdered on Schiff Parkway, New York; Francesco Finatzzo, whose name was stricken from the list of those to be killed, but the place of whose alleged murder is not known to Fontano, Joseph Lomzo, killed on Christie street, Joseph Ponzo, place of murder not known.

Those killed in Detroit, according to Fontano, were Joseph Barcella, his brother Felice, and their cousin whose name is given as Salvatore; Lucca Sarconi; Pietro Rosco and his brother Joseph; Antonio Giannola and his brother Salvatore. All these murders, says Fontano, were recently committed.

Wealthy Italians are involved, both here and in Italy, according to the confession, and at least a dozen new murders were contemplated when Fontano gave himself up.

Mob Burns Negro's Body.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Augusta, Ga., Aug. 17.—A negro's body, believed to be that of Walter Smalley, a negro slain last night in a battle with police, was taken from a hospital here just before dawn today and burned by a mob of armed men. The charred body was then taken back to the hospital. Smalley was slain by police after he had killed Benjamin T. Hightower, foreman of a saw mill works where Smalley was employed and then killed W. W. Moore, a policeman who sought to arrest him. Eight others were wounded by the negro, who armed with a shotgun, fought off persistent police.

BOYS SQUANDERED MOTHER'S MONEY

Levine Brothers Helped Themselves To Contents of Mama's Pocketbook And Went on Spending Spree With Alfred Meyers.

"What have we here!" quoth Officer Fred Fout Tuesday evening about 10 o'clock as he ran across three little boys with their arms loaded with rubber balls and bags of candy. The three were Norman and Isadore Levine of 61 Newkirk avenue, and Alfred Meyers of No. 76 West Union street, aged 7, 5 and 9 years respectively. The boys told such a strange tale that the officer thought it best to take them to the city hall.

There Isadore told the police that during the afternoon he had helped himself to thirty dollars from his mother's pocketbook and the three had started out on a shopping trip. The boys' mother was notified and verified the tale told by her sons. Later in the evening the three boys were taken home by their elder brothers. Isadore had $2.05 and Meyers $1.29 left of the original thirty dollars.

SMALL ABANDONS PLAN TO FIGHT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 17.—The sudden collapse of the "war" plans of Governor Len Small of Illinois was due to family "pressure" it was learned here today.

The governor, it was reported, has abandoned all plans to delay his trial on charges of misusing $2,500,000 in state interest funds and to test the legality of his arrest. In this decision, the governor entirely ignored the wishes of his legal advisers. He finally surrendered, his intimates said, to the pleas of Mrs. Small and members of the family.

The strain of his legal difficulties on members of his family it was said, had seriously concerned the governor. Since the issuance of bench warrants for the governor's arrest, Mrs. Sma.' has gone into retirement at the family home in Kankakee. It was her wish, it was said, that the governor abandon his "war" plans and go into court with the sole purpose of repudiating the charges brought against him in the Sangamon court.

The governor, through counsel, late yesterday accepted the offer of State's Attorney Mortimer to a change of venue from this county. The acceptance was based on four claims, the principal one of which retained the right to file any future action on any phase of the case excepting change of venue.

All four clauses were accepted by the state's attorney in a reply made public here. The state's attorney declared his first offer had held no "catch," the governor's counsel having taken exception to certain wording.

Mortimer also agreed to the governor's suggestion that attorneys for both sides agree upon another county in which the case shall be tried. He announced that Judge E. S. Smith, who issued the bench warrants for Small's arrest, would designate the circuit judge to decide the petition for a change of venue. This petition will be heard Tuesday, September 6. The jurist will be either Frank B. Burton or Judge Norman L. Jones.

The habeas corpus proceedings which the governor's counsel had insisted would be his "trump card" is apparently abandoned by the chief executive's most recent move. His attorneys, however, retained the right to file this action in asking for the change of venue. The state's attorney also agreed that the governor had not waived his right to this action. The test, however, now is a very remote possibility.

$1,000,000 FIRE IN GREENPOINT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Aug. 17.—Damage estimated at a million dollars was done by a fire that destroyed an entire square block of buildings in the Greenpoint section of Brooklyn early today.

The point at which the fire started is not far from the Greenpoint plant of the Standard Oil Company. A short distance off are a group of big gas tanks, and for some time fears were felt that the conflagration would spread to these danger points and get beyond control.

The neighborhood is one of frame dwellings and wooden industrial plants, and as soon as the serious nature of the fire was seen, the police began turning residents out of their homes. Hundreds fled to the street in their night clothing and watched the firemen work.

The fire marshal's office is investigating the cause of the blaze, which has not yet been determined.

WILL YOU CASH A $21,000 CHECK?

Asked William H. Fogg Twombly on Tuesday as He Entered the Columbia Shop on Fair Street—Then He Was Nabbed by Officer Simpson.

William H. Fogg Twombly came to Kingston on Tuesday with a check book and spent the afternoon visiting around and shopping. As the weather was somewhat warm he entered an ice cream parlor and ordered an ice cream soda, and as he quaffed it he smacked his lips in appreciation.

As he drained the glass to the last drop he leaned back in his chair and inquired affably "and how much is my bill, please?"

"Eleven cents," replied the young lady waitress brickly.

"Just a second," said William H. Fogg Twombly, and he pulled out a check book and drew up a check for $60. "Take the amount of the bill out of that," he said with a smile, and was greatly offended when the check was refused.

"That's the last of my patronage you may expect," said he as he flung a dime and a cent on the table and strode of the ice cream parlor with the rejected check in his pocket.

Among other places he visited was Forsyth & Davis, where he spoke of purchasing an automobile.

In his various visits around among the uptown merchants word of his arrival with a check book reached the ears of Officer James V. Simpson, who was on the uptown beat that afternoon.

Shortly afterward William H. and all the rest of him entered the Columbia Shop on Fair street and as William S. McDonough, the genial proprietor, stepped forward Mr. Twombly asked "Will you kindly cash a check for $21,000 for me, please?"

He handed the check to Mr. McDonough who glanced it over and then took another and more thorough glance at the check drawer. Just at that instant Officer Simpson stepped in. Mr. McDonough with a smile handed the officer the check.

Mr. Twombly was escorted to police headquarters and later in the day was taken to his home in West Hurley by Sergeant Phinney and Officer Kuehn in the police car. It was said that he was suffering from a nervous trouble and was not accountable for his actions.

THIS DUKE HAD A DOZEN WIVES

At Least That Is What He Told Judge Schirick, Who Was Inclined To Think That Duke Slightly Exaggerated The Number And Held Him For Observation.

"Are you married?" asked Judge Schirick as he glanced at George Duke, 30 years old, who was arraigned before him this morning on a charge of acting in a suspicious manner. George was picked up on Fair street about 7 o'clock Tuesday evening by Officer James V. Simpson.

"Yes your honor I have had a dozen wives," replied Mr. Duke briskly.

"Where's your last one?" asked the court with a smile.

"Oh I killed her, and my father helped me bury her out in the yard," replied Mr. Duke with another engaging smile.

"I'll hold you for observation," was the response made by Judge Schirick, and he remanded Duke to the county jail to be examined as to his sanity.

Just where Duke lives is unknown by the police at the present time but he walked into Kingston from Saugerties Tuesday afternoon following the West Shore railroad tracks.

The local police called up Captain Richter of the Saugerties police and was informed that Duke had been in that village that afternoon and while there had called on the Saugerties bank and asked them to cash a check for $50,000, which, of course, they had refused to do.

While walking into Kingston that afternoon Duke picked up an envelope that had blown out of the baggage car of Train No. 11, running from New York to Albany, and thereby greatly relieved the mind of the baggage master on that train for it contained the receipts for all baggage between Weehawken and the end of the run. The trainmaster spent some sleepless hours until he learned that the receipts had been found and were in the hands of Detective Goodsell of the West Shore road. Duke had picked up the receipts between Mr. Marion and Saugerties.

Duke presented a somewhat disreputable appearance in court this morning and his conversation was such that it led to court and police believing that he was insane which was the reason for Judge Schirick holding him for observation by the jail physician.

Roosevelt at the Fair.

Wednesday, September 7th will be Roosevelt Day at the Dutchess county fair. This will be the first day of the big exhibition, and it will be formally opened by Colonel Theodore Roosevelt. MARLBOROUGH HAD EXCITING TIME

Newburgh Hootch Drinkers Created Disturbance at Milton Hotel and Stirred Many Officers Into Action.

John and Nicholas Purcell, brothers, living at Newburgh, were brought to the Ulster county jail on Tuesday night to serve sentences of sixty days each for assault committed Monday night at McCabe's Hotel at Milton, where with two other young men of Newburgh they created a disturbance which resulted in an exciting chase before they were captured.

The Purcell brothers, in company with Harry Wakeford and Fred Yerrance, both of Newburgh, drove to McCabe's Hotel Monday evening in Wakeford's automobile. They asked for whiskey at the hotel and were told there was nothing of the kind there. Thereupon they produced some whiskey they had brought with them and drank it. The whiskey evidently was of the well known "hootch" brand, judging from what followed. The young men proceeded to take possession of the place and to make themselves at home.

They broke some glasses, bottles and windows and one of them is said to have opened the cash register, but inquiry afterward disclosed that if the cash register had been opened not more than 25 cents had been taken. Yerrance is said to have put his hand through a broken window pane, causing a severe cut.

A telephone call was sent from the hotel to Deputy Sheriff Harry Elliott, who started for the hotel in an automobile. On the way he met a car containing four young men and on reaching the hotel learned that the disturbers had left and taken the direction from which he had come. He turned his car and went in pursuit.

Meanwhile the state troopers and Newburgh police had received exaggerated reports of what had taken place and started out to find the autoists. Newburgh police guessed correctly who was in the party from the description which had been telephoned of the car and its occupants. Later a telephone from a state trooper announced he had caught the party at Middle Hope but wanted help. Two automobiles filled with Newburgh officers and ex-officers started to his aid and a dozen other cars, attracted by the spectacle, followed. When they arrived at Middle Hope they found there had been a similar rush from Highland and Milton, because news had spread that there had been a hold-up.

Yerrance, one of the quartet, was bleeding from the cut in his wrist and his clothing was torn. Recently he had some bridgework placed in his mouth but this had been knocked away from a blow on the jaw.

An attempt had been made to capture the quartet near Marlborough by placing an automobile across the road, but the Newburghers managed to get around it. The trooper on duty there had opened fire on the Wakeford car, trying to hit the tires. He succeeded in putting a hole in the gas tank and the car soon halted. Some of the party refused to get out of the car at the trooper's command, and it was then the call was sent to Newburgh for help. The fight which loosened the bridgework in Yerrance's mouth occurred about that time.

The four prisoners were taken to Dr. Palmer's office at Marlborough, where Nick Purcell managed to get away from his captors while their attention was engaged elsewhere. He walked quietly through the crowd and had gone fifty yards before anyone noticed him. Then he was pursued by a large part of the crowd. He was unacquainted with the locality and ran in a blind alley, where he was caught.

When arraigned before Justice of the Peace Kaley Tuesday afternoon the four men were found guilty. The Purcell brothers were committed to the Ulster county jail for sixty days each; Yerrance was sentenced to six months' jail imprisonment but execution of the sentence was suspended; Wakeford was fined $50.

KU KLUX KLAN HOLDS INITIATION

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—Details of Chicago's first Ku Klux Klan initiation in which 2,376 men were made members of the order, became known here today.

The initiation, conducted with weird rites and much secrecy, was held on a prairie thirty-four miles from the city while a drizzling rain fell on the white robed figures. The Klansmen stood ankle deep in mud and slush and ghostly fires burned as the neophytes took the oath of allegiance to the "invisible empire."

A procession of 2,000 automobiles carried the Klansmen to the scene of the initiation, more than 1,000 white-robed men participating.

$5,000,000 IN JULY MILK POOL

Reports submitted to the Dairymen's League Co-Operative Association from all quarters of the vast league territory show that pooled members, during the month of July, delivered to plants operated by dealers, 185,476,802 pounds of milk and also that 40,441,256 pounds were handled in stations operated by the association.

It will readily be seen that pooled members contributed a total quantity of 225,915,058 pounds, or approximately 60 per cent of the total amount of 377,353,298 pounds which was delivered to all plants operated by pooled members, non-pooled members and non-league producers.

These statistics have been compiled from the reports of dealers operating the 874 plants, who now receive the milk of league members, and from the 97 plants operated by the association.

During the month of July 39,329 members participated in the pooling of proceeds. Of this number 31,671 drew their milk to the 874 plants of the dealers while 7,658 delivered their milk to those 97 stations operated by the association.

Under the classification as adopted by the league, the entire amount of milk, 377,353,298 pounds, was utilized as follows:

	Pounds.	Pct.
Class 1	182,789,960	48
Class 2	107,963,346	28
Class 3	25,549,960	07
Class 4 (butter)	19,426,303	12
	377,353,298	100

By this table it will be noted that the largest share of milk was used as a fluid, while the next larger share was devoted to cream, ice cream and soft cheeses.

As recently announced by officials of the Dairymen's League, the basic price for pooled milk for the month of July will be $1.745 and this figure will be paid in the following manner:

The total administrative expense amounts per hundred pounds to .024.

Deduction is being made to be distributed to local leagues to cover local expenses, .002.

Deduction is being made and is being credited to the advertising fund, .014.

Deduction is being made to create insurance funds, .005.

Credited to certificates of indebtedness account and for which on April 25, 1922, a certificate of indebtedness bearing 6 per cent interest and maturing in five years, will be delivered to members, per hundred pounds, .100.

Cash payment on account on August 25, to cover deliveries during the month of July, $1.60.

A illttle more than $5,000,000 worth of business was transacted during the month of June as is shown by the report of sales. It is as follows:

Fluid milk sold to dealers	$4,319,481	09
Sales from plants operated by the association:

ON-A-JOB, OFF-A-JOB JIM!

Being a Story

Of how Jim got on a job and why he got off it again.

Jim rose before daybreak and entered the raspberry patch while the dew was still on the bushes. The air was fragrant and cool. With the help of two of the boys, he filled several dozen baskets before breakfast. Immediately after eating, he harnessed Wigs and started off to peddle his wares.

"There's a summer colony a mile beyond the village on the shore road," Molly informed him as he took up the reins. "You ought to be able to sell the raspberries there."

Wigs jogged along leisurely, unhurried by the man behind who was lost in his plans for the future. Fortunately the horse knew the way, and by ten o'clock they reached the first cottage. There they met with instant approval. The berries lay so temptingly fresh and luscious in the baskets that the housewives bought them on sight.

Jim entered a cottage with several baskets, where he was delayed by a loquacious purchaser. When he returned to the wagon he stood half dazed, peering at the floor where he had left six filled boxes, where now there was nothing in sight but the well worn boards. For a moment he wondered if he had been dreaming, but only for a moment. He knew beyond a doubt that there had been six full baskets there.

Who had taken them? He glanced quickly around, hoping to sight a merry face peeking out from behind a fence. Indignant, determined, he hastened back into the home of the talkative woman who had delayed him.

"Who is the thief around here?" he began, and as she lifted her puzzled face he continued. "Someone has helped himself to my raspberries. You know the people around here. Who'd be likely to carry off a stunt like that?"

"Those King children. They are regular imps! I don't believe they meant any harm—but!"

"Harm or no harm, I want to see them. Where do they live?"

"Just across the street."

Jim waited to hear no more. He hastened across the way and into the house where three innocent looking faces looked into his and emphatically denied having seen a raspberry. But red-stained fingers betrayed their guilt. Getting no satisfaction from the conversation, Jim left the house.

The next morning he was up again before daybreak and was ready once more to peddle raspberries immediately after breakfast. He went over the same route, reaching the home of the "little imps" as he nicknamed them, with just six boxes of tastily arranged raspberries in the bottom of the wagon.

As on the day before, he entered the home of his talkative acquaintance and waited, giving the neighboring children plenty of time to help themselves. After a time he went out and discovered to his satisfaction that the boxes were gone. From across the way came shrieks of fear and pain. The imps had put their fingers into the camouflaged boxes of raspberries and been nipped by the crabs hidden beneath.

"Honesty has its own reward," chuckled Jimmie, as he drove away.

ADJOURNMENT IN LIQUOR CASE

Search and seizure proceedings to determine what shall be done with liquor seized by State Troopers at the New Grand Hotel at Highmount were adjourned today, before County Judge Joseph M. Fowler at the court house, until August 24.

A complication has arisen in this seizure case over the fact that the hotel is located partly in each of the counties of Ulster, Greene and Delaware, and in order to determine the county in which the liquor was taken, by the state troopers it was necessary to order a survey taken. This survey has been made since the previous hearing and will be presented at the adjourned date, August 24.

Frank Seiden proprietor of the New Grand Hotel, at the hearing held on August 9 before Justice of the Peace H. W. Misner at Pine Hill, where he was arraigned on a charge of selling liquor in violation of the Mullan-Gage act, waived examination for the grand jury and gave bail.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving J. Rose of 69 Clinton avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen M., to George M. Kotrady of this city.

A social gathering was held at the home of Miss Lillian Frier, 346 Washington avenue on Sunday evening, where a number of friends, including several college students from out of town, met to have a good time. Dancing and games were enjoyed by all and at a late hour the guests departed, voting Miss Frier a charming hostess.

A big birthday surprise party was given Mrs. George W. Johnson, Sr., at her home on Bruyn avenue last Friday evening, by her daughters, Mrs. John Lake, Mrs. Lawton Gaum and Miss Florence Johnson, of New York city, Miss Elsie and Mr. and Mrs. George W. Johnson, Jr., of this city. There were guests present from New York city, Yonkers and a host of friends and relatives from this city. Mrs. Johnson received many handsome and costly presents. Elaborate refreshments were served and at a late hour all departed to their respective homes, wishing Mrs. Johnson many happy birthdays.

A very delightful party was given Miss Virginia Sleight at her home, 187 O'Neil street, Monday evening, August 15, in honor of her fifth birthday. Many beautiful and useful gifts were received, among them being three large birthday cakes and two bouquets of flowers. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sleight, the Misses Margaret and Anna Sleight, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steward, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brown and son, Robert, Jr., Master William and Harry Merrill, Edward Brown and daughter, Rita, Miss Marie Galvin, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sleight and daughter, Virginia, and son, Earl, Jr., Mrs. Sarah Terwilliger and Genevieve Hempstead, Master William Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reynolds.

Townsend-Scott.

Grace Scott and Eddie Townsend of Highland were married on Monday morning at the M. E. parsonage, the Rev. F. A. Coons officiating. They left for New York and other places of interest on their trip.

Swenson-Brown.

Mrs. Mary J. Brown of 63 Henry street announces the marriage of her daughter, Carolyn, to John D. Swenson on Saturday, August 13, at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. After a trip to Baltimore and Washington, they will reside at 44 Fox Terrace, Poughkeepsie, where a newly furnished home awaits them.

Ciccaglione-Wales.

The wedding of Miss Marie Fitz-Wales of 545 Main street, Beacon, N. Y., and Jerome Ciccaglione, a prominent business man of the same place, was quietly solemnized at St. Joachim's Rectory Sunday morning, by the pastor, the Rev. Thomas Dougherty. The wedding was a quiet one, owing to a recent death in the groom's family. The bride was formerly a resident of Kingston, having spent her childhood here and is one of its most talented musicians and a granddaughter of the late Dr. John Wales, one of the most eminent physicians and surgeons of his time, who was widely known and loved throughout Ulster county. Her many friends in Kingston as well as Beacon extend congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Ciccaglione for a long life of happiness in the beautiful new home which was the groom's gift to his bride.

Cashin-O'Rielly.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Mary's Church, Poughkeepsie, on Monday afternoon at three o'clock, when Miss Elizabeth O'Rielly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Rielly of West Main street, became the bride of Vincent Cashin of Kingston. The Rev. C. J. McCormack performed the ceremony. The bride was gowned in white satin en train, with veil of duchess lace and wreath of lilies of the valley. The bride carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid was Miss Margaret O'Rielly, sister of the bride, who wore a dress of orchid silk, hat to match, and carried a shower bouquet of ophelia roses. The best man was Mr. Cashin of Kingston, brother of groom. The ushers were Cornelius Lowney, Jr., John O'Rielly, Jr., and a brother of the groom. Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents in West Main street. The young couple left on an afternoon train for an extended honeymoon trip. On their return they will reside in Poughkeepsie. Guests were present from Kingston, New York, Poughkeepsie, La Grangeville and other places. The groom is well known in Poughkeepsie where he was stationed for some time as a state constable. The wedding marches were played by Miss Mae O'Connell, organist of the church. They have the best wishes of a host of friends here.

LIKE UNIFORM OF THE NURSE

This is like a nurse's uniform. It is a capped suit, by a Paris maker. A one-piece frock of deep blue is trimmed with French dots of white linen in rows. A cape of the same color, edged like the frock with white, is tied about the neck by broad bands, looped into a charming bow on the chest.

LAWNS, MUSLINS FAVORED

Fabrics That Now Replace More Gauzy and Beribboned Negligees and Lingeries.

Those gauzy, pink silk nighties, decorated with a tiny rosebud and hanging from the shoulders by silk ribbons; silk "teddies," silk and crepe de chine corset covers and suchlike delectable negligee and lingerie are being replaced today by French handmade and domestic articles in batistes, lawns and muslins, according to a fashion correspondent.

"These less expensive articles," said the writer, "are just as exquisite and dainty, and the next best thing to having silk next to the skin. The embroidered importations with lace filet and cluny are particularly sweet, and are appealing more and more to the American girl as she becomes less extravagant in her tastes.

"The girl who chooses for herself now takes the domestic goods. Silk negligee, however, is still purchased, but to a great extent by men, for what is more appropriate as a gift for wife or daughter than one of these luxurious silk undergarments?"

The georgette "winter weights," so popular with last season' Eves, are said to be yielding to the plainer, less showy, and more washable fabrics.

"This season promises to be the biggest year for sport suits. The revival of horseback riding and the more general participation of the modern maid in outdoor exercise has resulted in a great demand for these models.

"They are de rigeur almost anywhere, except at a formal dinner, and are being worn more and more on the street."

The summer girl, the authority added, even if she wears a diaphanous skirt, needn't be concerned whether the sun shines east or west. The little "knickers," she explained, prevent too sharp a silhouette.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Spanish shawls are gaining in popularity.

Silk ratine is used for suits, skirts and separate wraps.

Black shoes are worn with any color costume or stockings.

The girl who goes in for smart sport togs will find herself in wool all summer.

Tiny, close-fitting turbans made of colored lacquered leaves are very smart.

One of the fancies of the moment is the matching of the frock with wrap linings.

Adorable frocks for summer are made of handkerchief linen and trimmed with organdie flowers.

A newer fringe trimming is achieved by fringing the fabric itself. One finds plaid sport skirts finished at the edge in this way.

Short bloomers with the shorter chemise are being worn most now in the way of underclothing. Bloomers lend themselves well to the tailored skirt.

A little girl's bathing suit is of navy blue jersey with rather tight-fitting bloomers and a straight tunic. The latter shows embroidery of coarse white wool and white wool forms the belt at the waistline.

Flowers Decorate.

No table is complete without flowers, be it the breakfast, luncheon, tea or dinner table. Even field flowers gathered from the roadside are acceptable if they are nicely arranged. Violets mingled with their own green leaves, arbutus in flat dishes, spreading bouquets of dogwood, mountain laurel and azalea, daisies, red and pink clover, buttercups, goldenrod and asters—as the seasons change there are lovely flowers for the table to be had for the picking from spring to fall.

Important Part Missing.

Kathryn's father killed a rooster and laid him on the ground until he was through kicking and jumping. Kathryn watched him a minute, then exclaimed, "Oh, the poor thing is looking for his head, daddy."

$5,000,000 IN JULY MILK POOL

Reports submitted to the Dairymen's League Co-Operative Association from all quarters of the vast league territory show that pooled members, during the month of July, delivered to plants operated by dealers, 185,476,862 pounds of milk and also that 40,441,256 pounds were handled in stations operated by the association.

It will readily be seen that pooled members contributed a total quantity of 225,915,058 pounds, or approximately 60 per cent of the total amount of 377,353,298 pounds which was delivered to all plants operated by pooled members, non-pooled members and non-league producers.

These statistics have been compiled from the reports of dealers operating the 874 plants, who now receive the milk of league members, and from the 97 plants operated by the association.

During the month of July 39,329 members participated in the pooling of proceeds. Of this number 31,671 drew their milk to the 874 plants of the dealers while 7,658 delivered their milk to those 97 stations operated by the association.

Under the classification as adopted by the league, the entire amount of milk, 377,353,298 pounds, was utilized as follows:

	Pounds.	Pct.
Class 1	182,789,960	48
Class 2	107,963,346	28
Class 3	25,549,960	07
Class 4 (butter)	19,426,303	12
	377,353,298	100

By this table it will be noted that the largest share of milk was used as a fluid, while the next larger share was devoted to cream, ice cream and soft cheeses.

As recently announced by officials of the Dairymen's League, the basic price for pooled milk for the month of July will be $1.745 and this figure will be paid in the following manner:

The total administrative expense amounts per hundred pounds to .024.

Deduction is being made to be distributed to local leagues to cover local expenses, .002.

Deduction is being made and is being credited to the advertising fund, .014.

Deduction is being made to create insurance funds, .005.

Credited to certificates of indebtedness account and for which on April 25, 1922, a certificate of indebtedness bearing 6 per cent interest and maturing in five years, will be delivered to members, per hundred pounds, .100.

Cash payment on account on August 25, to cover deliveries during the month of July, $1.60.

A little more than $5,000,000 worth of business was transacted during the month of June as is shown by the report of sales. It is as follows:

Fluid milk sold to dealers	$4,319,481 09
Sales from plants operated by the association:

ON-A-JOB, OFF-A-JOB JIM!

Being a Story

Of how Jim got on a job and why he got off it again.

Jim rose before daybreak and entered the raspberry patch while the dew was still on the bushes. The air was fragrant and cool. With the help of two of the boys, he filled several dozen baskets before breakfast. Immediately after eating, he harnessed Wigs and started off to peddle his wares.

"There's a summer colony a mile beyond the village on the shore road," Molly informed him as he took up the reins. "You ought to be able to sell the raspberries there."

Wigs jogged along leisurely, unhurried by the man behind who was lost in his plans for the future. Fortunately the horse knew the way, and by ten o'clock they reached the first cottage. There they met with instant approval. The berries lay so temptingly fresh and luscious in the baskets that the housewives bought them on sight.

Jim entered a cottage with several baskets, where he was delayed by a loquacious purchaser. When he returned to the wagon he stood half dazed, peering at the floor where he had left six filled boxes. Where now there was nothing in sight but the well worn boards. For a moment he wondered if he had been dreaming, but only for a moment. He knew beyond a doubt that there had been six full baskets there.

Who had taken them? He glanced quickly around, hoping to sight a merry face peeking out from behind a fence. Indignant, determined, he hastened back into the house of the talkative woman who had delayed him.

"Who is the thief around here?" he began, and at the lifted brows puzzled face he continued, "Somebody has helped himself to my raspberries. You know the people around here. Who'd be likely to carry off a stunt like that?"

"Those King children. They are regular imps! I don't believe they meant any harm—but!"

"Harm or no harm, I want to see them. Where do they live?"

"Just across the street."

Jim waited to hear no more. He hastened across the way and into the house where three innocent looking faces looked into his and emphatically denied having seen a raspberry. But red-stained fingers betrayed their guilt. Getting no satisfaction from the conversation, Jim left the house.

The next morning he was up again before daybreak and was ready once more to peddle raspberries immediately after breakfast. He went over the same route, reaching the home of the "little imps" as he nicknamed them, with just six boxes of tastily arranged raspberries in the bottom of the wagon.

As on the day before, he entered the home of his talkative acquaintance and waited, giving the neighboring children plenty of time to help themselves. After a time he went out and discovered to his satisfaction that the boxes were gone. From across the way came shrieks of fear and pain. The imps had put their fingers into the cotton-lined boxes of raspberries and been nipped by the crabs hidden beneath.

"Poverty has its own reward," chuckled Jimmie, as he drove away.

Curious and Interest.

The story goes that Johns Hopkins, the founder of the university that bears his name, was accustomed even when of venerable years and more or less infirm of body to walk to his office. Questioned by a friend as to why he did this, he replied: "I never forget that a carriage represents only one five's interest on a dollar. The interest on a dollar is worth saving."

A SHREWD SCHEME.

Writing of the Russian revolution, which "has destroyed from top to bottom the whole political and social fabric of a once mighty empire," Baron Rosen calls attention to an important cause of popular unrest and upheaval not only in Russia but in other parts of the world—as follows:

The masses of mankind have never been able to live without a religious faith responding to the craving of the human soul for consolation and support in the trials of life. The waning faith of the toiling masses in revealed religion is a lamentable fact that cannot be ignored. Its total disappearance would leave a void which only a new faith could fill, and that new faith would seem to be socialism. There is the danger, and that is why the walls of Moscow are plastered by the Bolshevists with placards denouncing religion as the opium of the bourgeoise, invented to befuddle the minds of the proletariat in order the better to enslave it.

This is indeed one of the most persistent policies of modern revolutionists of the Bolshevist type. Before making much real progress they find it necessary to attack the churches and undermine faith in a future beyond the grave. Before drawing men into a bloody revolutionary movement they first convince them that there is no future life of ideal justice and that if they want their share of happiness they must grab it here, with bloody hands if necessary, instead of waiting to get their reward in a heaven "invented" by their earthly masters.

KINDRED SPIRITS.

The Anti-Saloon League, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and other organizations engaged in the process or devoted to the policy of legislating morality into the people, have officially protested that they are in no way associated with the anti-tobacco or blue law crusaders. This has tended to allay the awakening alarm of smokers and hard-working people who wish to devote at least a part of Sunday to outdoor or other recreations.

Late news from Kansas indicates that this sense of security may have less real basis than has been confidingly supposed. For in Kansas the W. C. T. U. has now openly joined forces with and given the use of all of its machinery to the battling foes of tobacco. Moreover, in a raid in Topeka the other day, resulting in the confiscation of several truckloads of cigarettes, the raiders were agents of the Anti-Saloon League.

This is what may be expected in other states as soon as it is deemed wise, for liquor and tobacco prohibitionists are akin in spirit and mutual sympathy. The disclaimers of the organizations mentioned above were probably only concessions to the demands of prudence, due to the fear of disturbance even within their own ranks to follow anything like active support of the anti-tobacconists at a time when devoted friends of the "weed" are still so numerous and influential.

It seems that the much talked of "revolt of youth" was not entirely unknown even in the stately and correct Victorian age, indications of the dreadfulness to come appearing in the British royal family itself. It is related that one of her small grandchildren wrote to Queen Victoria requesting the gift of a guinea and that the Queen refused in a letter full of pious advice, for which the young scapegrace thanked her in due course, adding that he had sold the letter for five guineas.

Princess Antonoine Bibesco, daughter of the celebrated Margot Asquith and wife of the Roumanian attache at Washington, says American men are "charming" but American women "aren't so nice—they are utterly spoiled." What American women will do to her remains to be seen, but American men can hardly fail to be grateful for this one kind word, after being told by all the other foreign observers that they are abject slaves—of their women.

Just listen to Professor McDougall, psychologist of Harvard: "As I watch the American nation speeding gayly, with invincible optimism, down the road to destruction, I seem to be contemplating the greatest tragedy in the history of mankind." Can't somebody tell this Cassandra in trousers to shut up.

People who want to make this world a better place in which to live should enroll and vote in the primaries. This is where the most good can be done. The primaries are the foundation of good government and the people should wake up.

Beer "schooners" are obsolete, but rum schooners are having their day and a lively one—outside the three-mile limit.

What do you know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper. Look for answers in this column.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. Does the Jerusalem artichoke come from Asia?
2. Name three characteristics that distinguish birds from animals?
3. How many kinds of animals are there in the world?

Answers In Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

Answers To Previous Questions.

1. What animal or bird is most important to the world?

Hard to answer, as circumstances alter cases. Reindeer are highly important to the frozen North, supplying meat, milk, clothing harness, etc. The horse has influenced history, helping in industry, travel, war, and hunting. Cattle, sheep, and goats have been important as food for centuries, also for hides. The birds from which domestic chickens are descended are important as food, and the majority of wild birds as police for insects, weed seed and rodents.

2. Do skunks make any vocal sounds?

Most naturalists say not, and have left written notes to that effect. Perhaps this is because the skunk is difficult to watch long at a time, or close at hand, unless tamed. A pet skunk has been known to make a scolding, chippering noise. "Silent" is the word commonly applied, however.

3. How can beehives be rid of ants?

Try destroying ant hills near the hives. If ordinary size, bore into the hills with a foot-long stake, and into this tunnel pour kerosene or gasolene. Extensive colonies may need a number of holes driven, and a tablespoonful of bisulphide of carbon poured into each tunnel, with the mouths stopped with an earth plug. This is dangerous to breathe, and terribly explosive. Healthy bee colonies should be able to fight ants in the hives unless the incoming ant army is too numerous.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Popular Dress Style For The Growing Girl.

Pattern 3506 is shown in this illustration. It is cut in 4 sizes: 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. An 8 year size will require 1⅝ yards of 36 inch material for the guimpe, and 2½ yards for the dress.

The guimpe may be of silk, crepe lawn, batiste or voile, the dress of gingham, chambray, percale, drill, poplin, ponge or repp, or of serge plaid suiting or velveteen.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or 1c and 2c stamps by the Pattern Department, the Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Team to Represent Saugerties.

At a special meeting of the Saugerties Athletic Club held Monday night in the Community Club rooms, it was unanimously voted by the large number of members present, that Saugerties be represented by their own team to play Sunday baseball in Saugerties, so the team was re-organized with some new faces in it and they will be as strong and if not stronger than last year's team. They have been able to procure the strong Industrial Team of Poughkeepsie for Sunday, August 21st. Game will be called promptly at 3:30 o'clock.

Come on along!

Fill up your makin's papers with P. A.

Greatest sport you know to pull out your makin's papers and some Prince Albert and roll up a cigarette! That's because P. A. is so delightfully good and refreshing in a cigarette—just like it is in a jimmy pipe! You never seem to get your fill—P. A.'s so joy'usly friendly and appetizing.

Prince Albert will be a revelation to your taste! No other tobacco at any price is in its class! And, it rolls up easily because it's crimp cut and it stays put.

It's the best bet you ever laid that you'll like Prince Albert better than any cigarette you ever rolled!

And listen! If you have a jimmy pipe hankering—by all means know what Prince Albert can do for you! It's a revelation in a pipe as well as in a cigarette! P. A. can't bite or parch. Both are cut out by our exclusive patented process.

Prince Albert is sold in toppy red bags, tidy red tins, handsome pound and half pound tin humidors and in the pound crystal glass humidor with sponge moistener top.

NO WOMAN IS STRONGER THAN HER NERVES

No electric power station is stronger than the amount of electricity stored therein. Your brain and nervous system consists of countless millions of cells. In these cells is stored a mighty mysterious energy called "nerve force" on which all thought, force, energy and even life itself must depend.

If you overtax your nerves by worry, overwork, too much excitement, grief or constant nervous strain, and thereby use up your nerve force or nerve-vital fluid faster than it is made, you are bound in time to become a nervous wreck with all its terrible tortures and sufferings.

In such cases, avoid mere stimulating medicines and narcotic drugs. What you need is something to put more nerve force into your weak, devitalized nerve cells. This is most effectively accomplished by the free use of Nuxated Iron, as it not only contains organic iron to enrich your blood, but it also contains the principal chemical constituent of active living nerve force, so that it may be said to be both a blood and a nerve food. It often increases the strength, vigor and endurance of weak, tired, nervous, worn out women in two weeks' time. Satisfactory results are guaranteed to every purchaser or the manufacturers will refund your money. Nuxated Iron for the blood and nerves is sold by all druggists.

NUXATED IRON
Enriches the Blood-Strengthens the Nerves

NEW YORK STATE CROPS ARE LIGHT

In common with all of the other states along the Canadian border as far west as the Rockies, New York will have unusually poor crops this year. From present indications the yields per acre will be 17 per cent below the average during the past ten years. This is chiefly due to the dry weather of May and June, which in most of the northern and western counties and around Lake Ontario continued through July and into August. Most crops except corn were also unfavorably affected by the exceptionally hot weather, the average July temperature over most of the state this year being nearly as high as the usual July temperature in Washington, D. C., or in Springfield, Ill., in the heart of the corn belt.

Corn gives promise of being a bumper crop, but millet, buckwheat and alfalfa seem to be the only other field crops that are up to their usual average. Hay and spring grains, which together make up ¾ of the total acreage of crops, are particularly poor. In the northern counties where the hay is the shortest and farmers are being compelled to reduce their dairy herds, cows are selling for an average of only $45, an amount which would now buy only two tons of hay in that part of the state. According to John B. Shepard of the U. S. Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates, the yield of hay in this state this year will be only about one ton per acre, instead of the usual 1.3 tons. Oats will yield only 27 bushels per acre instead of the usual 33. Pastures, while improving, were poorer on August 1st than they have been on that date since 1911. Wheat yielded a bushel per acre less than usual and rye two bushels less. Beans seem likely to fall one or two bushels per acre below the usual yield. Potatoes, cabbage and onions were each about 10 per cent poorer than usual on August 1st but may improve with better growing weather later in the season.

Fruit prospects are better than they were a month ago but they are still poor. The apple crop will be only 38 per cent as large as last year's crop but larger than the 1919 crop. Pears will be two-thirds of last year's crop but about the same as the 1919 crop. There will be about as many peaches in the state as there were last year but less than half the tonnage of grapes.

A month ago, when crops were much better elsewhere than they were in this state, the situation was quite discouraging for New York farmers, but during the last month general crop prospects declined nearly 12 per cent in the group of states extending from Ohio to Iowa and north to the Canadian border, and as these states compete with New York in the production of milk, potatoes, cabbage, beans and many other products, the fact that they have been seriously affected by drouth has already had the effect of increasing the prices of several farm products in this state. Dairy products have been particularly affected, the farm price of butter, for example, increased 20 per cent between July 1st and August 1st. Most fruits and vegetables are also bringing better prices than seemed probable earlier in the season. In respect to prices, farmers in this state are now faring better than those of the grain producing states, for during July the prices of the principal grains all declined, notwithstanding the fact that the yields will all be less than seemed probable a month ago.

AT THE THEATRES.

Mary Miles Minter at Keeney's—"Hush" at Auditorium.

"All Souls' Eve," from the Anne Crawford Flexner success of last season on Broadway, is the Mary Miles Minter vehicle showing at Keeney's tonight. It provides an interesting dual role for Miss Minter, and the star is also shown as a ghost several several times. Jack Holt the charming leading man is also delightfully cast. The comedy feature is "The Elephant's Nightmare" a conglomeration of funny antics with wondrous animals making laughter continuous. Thursday is one of the star attraction of the week when Margerite Clark makes her triumphant return to the screen in "Scrambled Wives."

In Sada Cowan's story, "Hush" at the Auditorium tonight, with Clara Kimball Young, the wife told her husband of her first and only great mistake, long forgotten. But he never forgot, nor could he forgive. Miss Young's gowns are a marvel to behold and cost a fortune alone. Eileen Sedgewick in "The Diamond Queen" is also featured. Thursday Art Accord in "The White Horseman."

A Nice Toy.

Put up a short line of narrow rope or strong twine in a corner of the kitchen or nursery. Make it about three or four feet long. Give the small tots of three or four years of age a handful of clothespins and some old pieces of cloth. The little girls and boys, too, will enjoy hanging up clothes "like mother does."

Old Buggy His Court.

A judge of Livingston, N. J., is on record as holding court from the seat of an old buggy. The case was that of a tenant who had disregarded notice to vacate property, so the buggy was drawn up within a short distance of the house in question and the trial proceeded.

ADJOURNMENT IN LIQUOR CASE

Search and seizure proceedings to determine what shall be done with liquor seized by State Troopers at the New Grand Hotel at Highmount were adjourned today, before County Judge Joseph M. Fowler at the court house, until August 24.

A complication has arisen in this seizure case over the fact that the hotel is located partly in each of the counties of Ulster, Greene and Delaware and in order to determine the county in which the liquor was taken, by the state troopers it was necessary to order a survey taken. This survey has been made since the previous hearing and will be presented at the adjourned date, August 24.

Frank Seiden proprietor of the New Grand Hotel, at the hearing held on August 9 before Justice of the Peace H W Misner at Pine Hill, where he was arraigned on a charge of selling liquor in violation of the Mullan-Gage act, waived examination for the grand jury and gave bail.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving J. Rose of 69 Clinton avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen M., to George M. Kotrady of this city.

A social gathering was held at the home of Miss Lillian Frier, 346 Washington avenue on Sunday evening, where a number of friends, including several college students from out of town, met to have a good time. Dancing and games were enjoyed by all and at a late hour the guests departed voting Miss Frier a charming hostess

A big birthday-surprise party was given Mrs. George W. Johnson, Sr., at her home on Bruyn avenue last Friday evening, by her daughters. Mrs John Lake, Mrs. Lawton Gaum and Miss Florence Johnson, of New York city. Miss Elsie and Mr. and Mrs George W. Johnson, Jr., of this city. There were guests present from New York city, Yonkers and a host of friends and relatives from this city. Mrs. Johnson received many handsome and costly presents Elaborate refreshments were served and at a late hour all departed to their respective homes, wishing Mrs. Johnson many happy birthdays.

A very delightful party was given Miss Virginia Sleight at her home, 187 O'Neil street, Monday evening, August 15, in honor of her fifth birthday. Many beautiful and useful gifts were received, among them being three large birthday cakes and two bouquets of flowers. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sleight, the Misses Margaret and Anna Sleight, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steward, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brown and son, Robert, Jr., Master William and Harry Merrill, Edward Brown and daughter, Rita, Miss Marie Galvin, Mr and Mrs. Earl Sleight and daughter, Virginia, and son, Earl, Jr., Mrs. Sarah Terwilliger and Genevieve Hempstead, Master William Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reynolds.

Townsend-Scott.

Grace Scott and Eddie Townsend of Highland were married on Monday morning at the M. E. parsonage, the Rev. F. A. Coons officiating. They left for New York and other places of interest on their trip.

Swenson-Brown.

Mrs. Mary J. Brown of 63 Henry street annaunces the marriage of her daughter, Carolyn, to John D. Swenson on Saturday, August 13, at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. After a trip to Baltimore and Washington, they will reside at 44 Fox Terrace, Poughkeepsie, where a newly furnished home awaits them.

Ciccaglione-Wales.

The wedding of Miss Marie Fitz-Wales of 545 Main street, Beacon, N. Y., and Jerome Ciccaglione, a prominent business man of the same place, was quietly solemnized at St. Joachim's Rectory Sunday morning, by the pastor, the Rev. Thomas Dougherty. The wedding was a quiet one, owing to a recent death in the groom's family. The bride was formerly a resident of Kingston, having spent her childhood here and is one of its most talented musicians and a granddaughter of the late Dr. John Wales, one of the most eminent physicians and surgeons of his time, who was widely known and loved throughout Ulster county. Her many friends in Kingston as well as Beacon extend congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Ciccaglione for a long life of happiness in the beautiful new home which was the groom's gift to his bride.

Cashin-O'Reilly.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Mary's Church, Poughkeepsie, on Monday afternoon at three o'clock, when Miss Elizabeth O'Reilly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Reilly of West Main street, became the bride of Vincent Cashin of Kingston. The Rev. C. J. McCormack performed the ceremony. The bride was crowned in white satin and tulle, with veil of duchess lace and wreath of lilies of the valley. The bride carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid was Miss Margaret O'Reilly, sister of the bride, who wore a dress of orchid silk, hat to match, and carried a shower bouquet of cybelia roses. The best man was Mr Cashin of Kingston, brother of groom. The ushers were Cornelius, Lawrence, Jr., John O'Reilly, Jr., and a brother of the groom. Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on West Main street. The young couple left on an afternoon train for an extended honeymoon trip. On their returnthey will reside in Poughkeepsie. Guests were present from Kingston, New York, Poughkeepsie, La Guarneville and other places. The groom is well known in Poughkeepsie where he was stationed for some time as a state constable. The wedding marches were played by Miss Mae O'Connell, organist of the church. They have the best wishes of a host of friends here.

LIKE UNIFORM OF THE NURSE

This is like a nurse's uniform. It is a capped suit, by a Paris maker. A one-piece frock of deep blue is trimmed with French dots of white linen in rows. A cape of the same color, edged like the frock with white, is tied about the neck by broad bands, looped into a charming bow on the chest.

LAWNS, MUSLINS FAVORED

Fabrics That Now Replace More Gauzy and Beribboned Negligees and Lingeries.

Those gauzy, pink silk nighties, decorated with a tiny rosebud and hanging from the shoulders by silk ribbons; silk "teddies," silk and crepe de chine corset covers and suchlike delectable negligee and lingerie are being replaced today by French handmade and domestic articles in batistes, lawns and muslins, according to a fashion correspondent.

"These less expensive articles," said the writer, "are just as exquisite and dainty, and the next best thing to having silk next to the skin. The embroidered importations with lace filet and cluny are particularly sweet, and are appealing more and more to the American girl as she becomes less extravagant in her tastes.

"The girl who chooses for herself now takes the domestic goods. Silk negligee, however, is still purchased, but to a great extent by men, for what is more appropriate as a gift for wife or daughter than one of these luxurious silk undergarments?"

The georgette "winter weights," so popular with last season' Eves, are said to be yielding to the plainer, less showy, and more washable fabrics.

"This season promises to be the biggest year for sport suits." The revival of horseback riding and the more general participation of the modern maid in outdoor exercise has resulted in a great demand for these models.

"They are de rigeur almost anywhere, except at a formal dinner, and are being worn more and more on the street."

The summer girl, the authority added, even if she wears a diaphanous skirt, needn't be concerned whether the sun shines east or west. The little "knickers," she explained, prevent too sharp a silhouette.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Spanish shawls are gaining in popularity.

Silk ratine is used for suits, skirts and separate wraps.

Black shoes are worn with any color costume or stockings.

The girl who goes in for smart sport togs will find herself in wool all summer.

Tiny, close-fitting turbans made of colored lacquered leaves are very smart.

One of the fancies of the moment is the matching of the frock with wrap linings.

Adorable frocks for summer are made of handkerchief linen and trimmed with organdie flowers.

A newer fringe trimming is achieved by fringing the fabric itself. One finds plaid sport skirts finished at the edge in this way.

Short bloomers with the shorter sleeves are being worn most now in the way of underclothing. Bloomers lend themselves well to the tailored skirt.

A little girl's bathing suit is of navy blue jersey with rather tight-fitting bloomers and a straight tunic. The latter shows embroidery of coarse white wool and white wool forms the belt at the waistline.

Flowers Decorate.

No table is complete without flowers, be it the breakfast, luncheon, tea or dinner table. Even field flowers gathered from the roadside are acceptable if they are nicely arranged. Violets mingled with their own green leaves, arranged in the dishes, spreading bouquets of dogwood, mountain laurel and apples, daisies and pink clover, buttercups, goldenrod and asters—as the seasons change there are lovely flowers for the table to be had for the picking from spring to fall.

Important Part Missing.

Kathryn's father killed a sweater and had him on the ground until he was through kicking and jumping. Kathryn watched him a minute, then exclaimed, "Oh, the poor thing is looking for his head, daddy."

PORKY PIG'S BIRTHDAY.

"Wish me many happy returns," said Porky, "for today is my birthday. And bring me presents, Pigs; be sure you bring me presents.

"I will be at home to all the pigs in the pen at four this afternoon or any time before that you want to come with your presents.

"Perhaps it would be better for each of you to come, one at a time, for then no one else would be apt to grab away any of my presents.

"I am not making a list of what I want, for you all know. I am sure, that food presents are the presents that your dear Grandfather Porky Pig likes."

"We all know that, we all know that, grunt, grunt," said the other pigs.

"Don't forget," said Porky, "don't forget that it is my birthday."

"How do you know that it is your birthday?" asked Miss Ham. "Squeal, squeal, how do you know that?"

"Yes, that is so, how do you know that?" asked Pinky Pig. "Grunt, grunt, how do you know that?"

"Squeal, squeal," said Pinky Pig's mother, "how do you know it is your birthday?"

"Grunt, grunt, how do you know it is your birthday, indeed?" asked Sammy Sausage.

"You had a birthday not long ago," said Porky Pig to Sammy Sausage, "so I don't see any reason why I shouldn't have one."

"I haven't had a birthday party for ever and ever so long," said Sammy Sausage. "Grunt, grunt, it is time I should have a birthday party."

"Grunt, grunt, how do you know it is your birthday?" asked Master Pink Pig.

"How do you know it, Porky? Tell us, grunt, grunt," said Mrs. Pink Pig.

"I know that I was born on a certain day," said Porky, "and I know that since that day a great, great, great many days have passed, even months and perhaps I should say years, too, and so I say this is my birthday."

"But that is no reason for it being your birthday," said Brother Bacon. "Grunt, grunt, that is no reason."

"No reason at all," said Miss Ham, "squeal, squeal, no reason at all."

"No reason at all, grunt, grunt," said Pinky Pig.

"No reason at all, squeal, squeal," said Pinky Pig's mother.

"No reason at all, grunt, grunt," said Master Pink Pig.

"I agree, squeal, squeal," said Mrs. Pink Pig.

"I should have a birthday when I want to have one," said Grandfather Porky.

"Oh, not a bit of it," said Brother Bacon. "You can't have a birthday when you want one. Grunt, grunt; no, indeed."

"Most certainly not," said Sammy Sausage. "Most certainly not, grunt, grunt."

"You're All Such Pigs."

"Squeal, squeal, squeal, who ever heard of such a thing?" asked Miss Ham.

"Well," said Grandfather Porky Pig, "I see that you aren't taking kindly to the ideas of giving me birthday presents, for you're all such pigs you don't want to part with any food.

"But no matter, I will say that this is my birthday whether it is or not, and I will go and look for all the food I can and I will give myself as many food presents as I can."

"Well, you are a pig," said Sammy Sausage.

"No more so than yourself," said Grandfather Porky.

"He is certainly a pig, and grandfather of all of us," said the other pigs.

But Porky paid no more attention to them. He walked off by himself and as he found some pig weed he said to himself with every bite he took:

"Many happy returns of the day, Porky, and may your whole life be blessed with food!"

RIDDLES.

Why is a candle wick like the city of Athens? Because it is in the middle of Greece (grease).

What fish is often used as a weapon in a duel? Sword fish.

What is most like a hen stealing? A cock robin.

Why is a kiss like a rumor? Because it travels from mouth to mouth.

What part of a tree is most like an elephant? The trunk.

Where did Noah strike the first nail in the Ark? On the head.

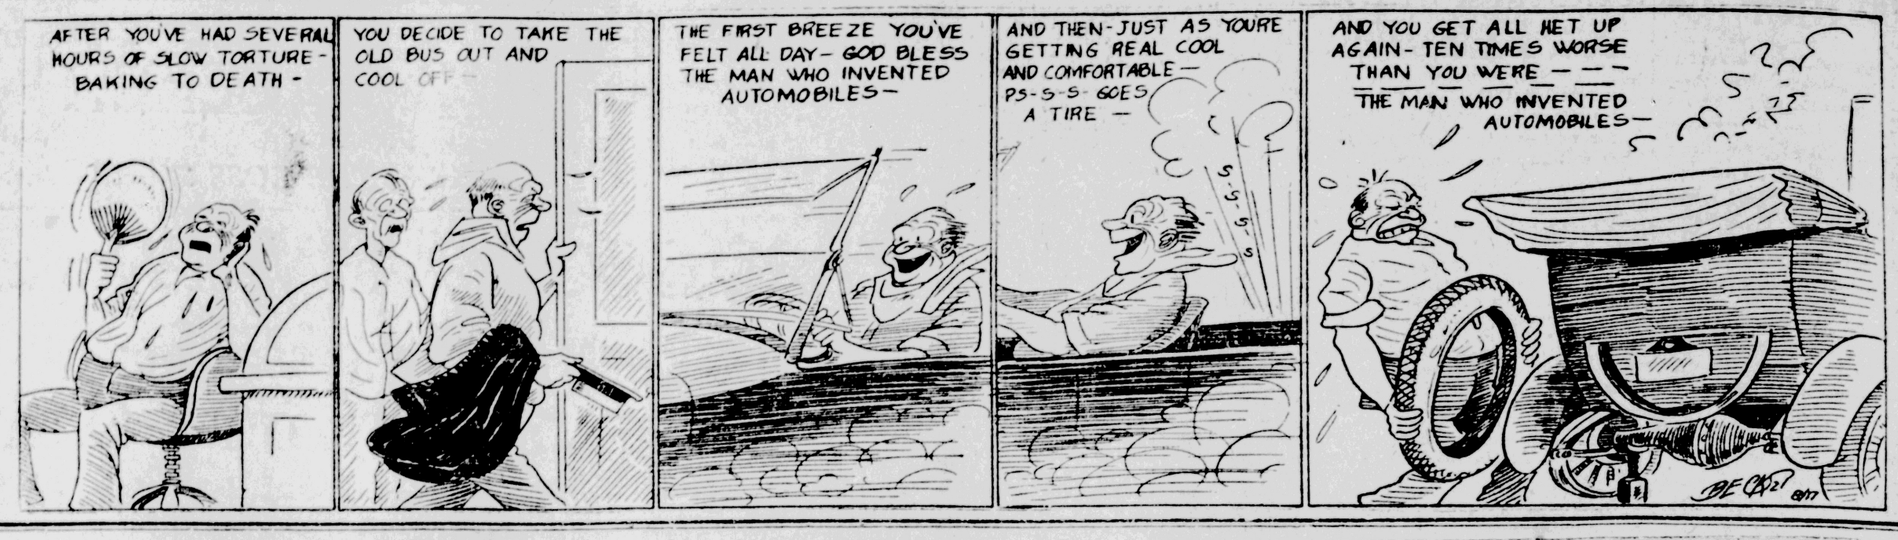
GAS BUGGIES—You can't satisfy some people



The KITCHEN CABINET

(© 1921, Western Newspaper Union.)

There are days which occur in this climate, at almost any season of the year, wherein the world reaches perfection, when the air, the heavenly bodies and the earth make a harmony as if nature would indulge her offspring.—Emerson.

SEASONABLE DISHES.

Pineapple juice is especially refreshing and is also valuable as a medicine.

As an addition to cocktails, fruit cups and salads it is especially valuable. When pineapples are reasonable in price it is desirable to put them up at home, but the canned variety, if a good brand is obtained, is not an extravagance.

Pineapple Marmalade.—Peel and chop as many pineapples as are desired. Weigh and allow a pound of sugar for each pound of fruit. Mix well and let stand over night in a cool place. In the morning cook until soft enough to put through a sieve. Strain, return to the preserving kettle and continue cooking, stirring constantly until a clear amber jelly is formed. This will thicken when cool. Put into small jars; cover and seal. This marmalade is fine for dainty desserts, cake fillings and such dishes.

White Layer Cake.—Cream one-half cupful of butter, add one and one-half cupfuls of sugar gradually, flavor with a half teaspoonful of rose extract, add one-half cupful of milk and two cupfuls of pastry flour sifted with four level teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Mix well, then fold in the stiffly-beaten whites of eight eggs. This makes three layers of exceptional quality. For filling, use lemon or orange, or a combination of both. An egg yolk, two tablespoonfuls of flour, two tablespoonfuls of water with the rind and juice of a lemon and a half cupful or more of sugar. Cook together, adding a little butter just before taking from the fire. Cool before adding to the cake.

Graham Gems.—A hot muffin or gem is welcome occasionally even in warm weather. These are easy to make and very light and good. Take one cupful of sour milk, one teaspoonful of soda, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one egg and two tablespoonfuls of melted shortening, added after one cupful of graham flour. Beat well and fill well-greased gem pans. This recipe makes six good-sized gems.

Stories of Great Scouts

By Elmo Scott Watson

"X" BEIDLER, WHO SENT HIS WIFE TO "ROME"

One day in 1869, when the Nile one of the old-time wood-burning Missouri steamers, stopped near the mouth of Musselshell river in Montana to take on wood, two "woodhawks" came aboard. "Woodhawks were men who cut firewood and corded it up on the banks of the river to sell to the steamboats. These two men were famous frontier characters "X" Beidler and "Liver-Eatin" Johnson.

Among the passengers on the Nile was a party of eastern tourists among them several women who were enjoying for the first time the thrill of being in the wildest "Wild West." They were especially delighted at the appearance of Beidler and Johnson and at once began asking questions of these "picturesque characters," as they called them. The woodhawks were not especially pleased to be treated like a pair of Indians, but said nothing about it. Finally one of the women inquired: "Mr. Beidler are you married?"

"Yes," replied "X."

"Oh, I would never have guessed it. Is—is your wife, ah—a white woman?"

"Indian," grunted Beidler.

"How delightful! A native of these great plains! Where is she now?"

"Oh, I've sent her to Rome," said the woodhawk.

"To Rome? To be educated? How romantic! Do you mean Rome, Italy?"

"No," answered "X," with a grim smile. "To roam on the prairie!"

The woman stopped asking questions.

Beidler served as a scout with General Miles in the Sioux war of 1876, but he was better known as a vigilante leader in the early Montana mining camp. John X. Beidler was his real name, but he was called "X" Beidler because he always signed his warnings to western "bad men" with the single mysterious letter "X." One such warning was usually enough to make the bad man leave camp.

Later "X" was sheriff of Lewis and Clark county. He once invited the governor of Montana and other state officials to visit his jail and inspect a new steel cage of which he was very proud. The officials came and Beidler took them into the cage.

"Now, dern ye!" he said to his prisoners, "Ye've been edgin' off lately when I was tellin' my stories of the old days an' not listenin' to 'em. Now, I reckon you'll listen."

He kept them there three hours and told them every story he knew!

THE U.S. USCO TREAD

Here is the U. S. Usco Tread, with a long-established standard of service among motorists who have an eye to value, as well as to price. While selling for less than the other tires in the U. S. Fabric line, the Usco has earned a reputation for quality and dependable economy which is not exceeded by any tire in its class.

United States Tires are Good Tires

U. S. USCO TREAD
U. S. CHAIN TREAD
U. S. NOBBY TREAD
U. S. ROYAL CORD
U. S. RED & GREY TUBES

From the makers of U.S. Royal Cords to the users of Fabric Tires

"Giving to the fabric tire user fresh, live tires. Being made now. Being shipped now."

IN all of modern merchandising the biggest conundrum is the fabric tire situation.

Around 70% of all car owners use fabric tires.

Their instinct for quality is as strong and insistent as any one else's.

Why, then, are they offered such hodge-podge stocks of "discount tires," "odd lots," "seconds," "retreads" and other so-called bargains of uncertain origin?

Sooner or later the public always seeks out quality. As a matter of self-protection—if for no other reason. The out-and-out opinion in favor of U. S. Fabric Tires has spread more this year than it ever did.

People have gotten very close to the U. S. policy. Felt it. Benefited by it. And passed the word along.

It's a policy settled to one standard for all U. S. Tires. Whether fabrics or cords. Small sizes or large.

Giving to the fabric tire user fresh, live tires. Being made now. Being shipped now.

All the original U. S. vitality and service comes through when you buy a U. S. Fabric Tire.

"Usco," "Chain," "Nobby." Three different treads.

Built by the same brains, the same policy, the same quality ideals that have made U. S. Royal Cords the standard measure of tire worth.

WHEN MASONRY WAS POLITICAL ISSUE

Ulster Sentinel Said Harsh Things of the Anti-Masons and Opponents of Jackson-Romeyn's First Paper —An Old Rondout Newspaper.

After the flood of bogus copies of the Ulster County Gazette that comes to The Freeman office it is refreshing to receive from Ye Olde Curiosity Shop, 39 Lander street, Newburgh, genuine copies of two old Kingston newspapers, The Political Reformer of October 25, 1837, and The Ulster Sentinel of March 25, 1829. Both are in an excellent state of preservation and were originally the property of M. J. Wygant. The Freeman is descended, through the Kingston Journal, being consolidated with it, from the Sentinel, out of which the Journal grew.

The Sentinel, in 1829, was edited by Charles G. DeWitt and printed in the old stone house that stood until a few years ago opposite the Eagle Hotel. Its editor was triumphing over the election of Andrew Jackson and the humiliation of the local opposition. "We have kicked and cuffed and so utterly prostrated the whole corps," he writes, "that nothing, absolutely nothing, is left them but the privilege of complaint." He then refers to the opposition as "mercenary sycophants and hired incendiaries" who have "now put on the horns, the tail, and the cloven feet of Satan to scare people into their ranks by preaching up a crusade against Free Masonry."

Much space is given to the Anti-Mason party, generally and locally, and the editor breaks into verse:

Firm, united we shall be
Rallying round the Hickory tree,
No Anti-Mason, pope or king,
Shall ever clip our eagle's wing.

It seems the Anti-Masons had held a convention in New Paltz, which greatly excited the ire of the editor, Dr. Bogardus being the especial mark for his indignation.

Advertisements of whiskey and lottery tickets appear in the paper. Besides being one of the owners of the Ulster County Furnace, James W. Baldwin also advertised plows, wagon boxes and sleigh robes at his store "two doors south of the Middle District Bank." James Dumond advertised a new hotel on the road to Hurley. Joseph S. Smith and Herman D. Gould advertised that that had dissolved partnership and the Kingston Hotel, formerly Pine's Eagle Tavern, on Crown street, was advertised by J. H. Rutzer. J. S. Smith, on East Front street, advertised almost everything, from sheeting to sleigh bells and whiskey and wanted to buy wheat.

The Political Reformer was in its first year in 1837 and was edited by William H. Romeyn. He was a Whig and had as harsh words for Democrats and Loco Focos as DeWitt had for the Anti-Masons. A curious practice is shown in an advertisement of the Rondout to New York daily boats, Hudson and Congress, which concludes:

"The Delaware Gazette will please publish the above and forward the bill to this office."

T. Powell & Co. advertise the Highlander, running from Newburgh to New York.

Fare by boat from Rondout to New York on the Hudson was $1.

The Eddyville cotton factory offered yarn and cotton bats for sale.

Another interesting old newspaper is a copy of the Rondout Courier of March 27, 1868, recently found by Andrew M. Taylor of Port Ewen among the effects of his mother. The principal news story is a call for the citizens of Rondout and Kingston to meet at the court house to consider the means of supplying the two villages with water and to raise money for the preliminary surveys. The call is signed by a large number of leading citizens, not one of whom is now living.

This issue of the Courier prints the valedictory of John P. Hageman as editor, he having sold the paper to W. H. and J. C. Romeyn.

Principal advertisers were James O. Merritt, Brodhead & Co.; N. L. Bouton & Co., North's Dry Goods House, R. Deyo, B. P. Decker & Brother, P. B. Warner, Morgan Everson, Van Deusen Brothers, A. P. Van Buren, P. A. Canfield, Turck & Burhans and A. S. Staples.

The paper prints a recipe for making corn beer, which The Freeman dare not reprint, as the beverage might contain more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol.

DEMOCRATS FIGHT NEW TAX BILL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 17.—The opening fight against the tax revision bill began in the house today. With an agreement to vote on the bill at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Democrats decided to make the most of their time in opposing the bill. Opposition to the bill is being directed by Representative Claude Kitchin, Democratic leader, from his sick room in his home at Scotland Neck, N. C. Kitchen's views are being forwarded here by telegraph and will be incorporated in the minority report on the bill which will be filed late today.

It was decided by the Democrats that they would insist the Republican tax plan would not yield the $3,500,000,000 necessary to a safe and sane conduct of the treasury and that the government plan would result in a deficit. They claim that the decision of the Republicans to collect only $3,000,000,000 from internal revenues is bad financing.

They present the further argument that the revision of the taxes prepared by the Republicans is inequitable in that it lightens the burdens on the rich but gives little relief to the poorer taxpayers. The exemptions for married men and heads of families on incomes up to $5,000 will benefit some, but the mass of taxpayers with incomes from $5,000 to $66,000 will pay the same rates as formerly while these with incomes in excess of $66,000 will have the taxes reduced materially, the greatest reduction on largest incomes amounting to about 50 per cent, it is claimed by opponents of the bill.

The same inequity in tax reduction is shown, they say, in respect to the corporation net income tax which is increased by the bill from 10 to 12½ per cent. The corporations with small earnings will have to pay heavier taxes while the corporations with great incomes by virtue of the repeal of the excess profits tax will pay far less in taxes, amounting in some instances to a reduction of 60 per cent.

The Democrats decided in their conference to present no substitute tax revision bill for that presented by the Republicans.

Republican leaders are worried today over the action of the house Republicans in forcing changes in the bill delaying repeal of the excess profits and large income surtaxes until January 1, next. Pledges had been given during the last campaign by Republicans for an immediate repeal of these heavy taxes and business was counting on this relief.

THE AMERICAN LEGION

THE "DOUGHBOY OF IDAHO"

Striking Statue Recently Selected by State's War Memorial Commission, Is Lifelike Study.

It's a far cry indeed from the stiff-necked, primly dressed recruit which flooded America after the armistice as the sculptured representation of the American fighter to the shirt-sleeved, delightfully informal "Doughboy of Idaho," recently selected by the state's war memorial commission to symbolize Idaho's contribution to the World war. The statue, work of Avard Fairbanks, Portland, Ore., and Salt Lake City, Utah, artist, is the most lifelike study of the A. E. F. infantryman as the Boche saw him that American artists have produced, according to both the ex-infantryman and those who have sought to immortalize him in bronze and stone.

The Idaho commission has ordered that all counties of the state have memorials alike in character with the addition that Mr. Fairbanks' "Doughboy" be the main feature of each county's memorial. The American Legion of Idaho has been warm in its commendation of the statue and Mr. Fairbanks has returned the compliment by informing the service men that: "I am convinced that the American Legion can be a tremendous power in education and in honor and in the glory of our great government. I am indeed enthused with the loyal stand on Americanism which the Legion is holding out for."

LEGION MAN UNION OFFICER

California Organization Adjutant Well Known for Activities With Fellow Laborers.

Fred F. Bebergall of San Francisco, who is now serving his second term as department adjutant of the American Legion in California, is one of the most active Legion officers in his state. Bebergall also is well-known for his activities in labor union circles.

Bebergall's life history is the same in some details as that of many successful men. His father died when he was nine years old and he went to work. He obtained his education at night schools and as he expresses it—the "good old college of hard knocks."

As a union official Bebergall has served in nearly every office of the San Francisco Typographical Union No. 21, and as assistant secretary of the California State Federation of Labor.

He was twice rejected for military service on account of impaired vision, but finally obtained a waiver from the secretary of war and was enrolled in the medical department of the United States army. He served as a member of Base Hospital Company No. 87 in France and was discharged June 30, 1919, at San Francisco as a sergeant, first class. He immediately became interested in the American Legion and was one of the organizers of the California department.

Carrying on With the American Legion

(Copy for This Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service.)

Russel C. Gross of Philadelphia who filled Slacker Bergdoll's place in the army and who was killed in action in France after winning a citation for bravery, will be honored by the Overbrook, Penn., post of the American Legion, whose members have decided to name their projected community house for the hero. The Overbrook post will also change its name to the Russell C. Gross post.

• • •

The apprehension of nearly 500 draft deserters since the publication of the slacker lists began has justified the position of army officials and the American Legion in their stand favoring the publication of the list. About half of the 60,000 names of deserters have been published and of the 500 men arrested through the publicity of the lists, 200 have been tried and 80 convicted.

THE GOOD OLD HYMNS.

There's lots of music in 'em—the hymns of long ago,
And when some gray-haired brother sings the ones I used to know,
I sorter want to take a hand, I think of days gone by,
"On Jordan's stormy banks I stand and cast a wistful eye!"

There's lots of music in 'em—those dear, sweet hymns of old,
With visions bright of lands of light, and shining streets of gold;
And I hear 'em ringing—singing, where mem'ry, dreaming, stands,
"From Greenland's icy mountains to India's coral strands."

They seem to sing forever of holier, sweeter days,
When the lilies of the love of God bloomed white in all the ways;
And I want to hear their music from the oldtime meetin' rise,
Till "I can read my title clear to mansions in the skies."

We never needed singin' books in them old days—we knew
The words, the tunes of every one—the dear old hymnbook through!
We didn't have no trumpets then, no organs built for show,
We only sang to praise the Lord, "from whom all blessings flow."

An' so I love the good old hymns, and when my time shall come—
Before the light has left me, and my singing lips are dumb—
If I can hear 'em sing them then, I'll pass without a sigh
To "Canaan's fair and happy land where my possessions lie."

EASY TO BUILD FIRE ON ICE

With the Understanding of the Properties of Gas, It Is Not Hard to Create Illusion.

Carbide or more properly, calcium carbide, is a wonderful substance made in the electric furnace by heating lime and coke, writes H. Gernsbach in Science and Invention. It is a hard gray stone-like material and no doubt familiar to you as the gas-generating medium employed in some kinds of bicycle lamps. When brought in contact with water it instantly liberates gas, acetylene, which gives a brilliant light when properly burned.

This property can be strikingly demonstrated in the following manner:

Place a few lumps of carbide on a block of ice. Above the freezing point

Fire and Ice Combined.

of water (32 degrees F.) ice is always covered with a film of water sufficient to start some action with the carbide. The heat generated by the chemical reaction melts more ice, making more heat and generating more gas, so that in a moment the lumps will have begun to bore little holes in the ice. If a match is applied, the escaping acetylene gas ignites and burns with bright but smoky flames so that to the observer the ice appears to be burning. Since acetylene gas contains much carbon, when it is burned in the air without special burners, it gets insufficient oxygen to burn up all this carbon. As a consequence of this richness in carbon, or insufficient oxygen, a veritable "black snowstorm" results in a few minutes.—Detroit Free Press.

Freddie had been given a puppy which was very playful. He watched it with great concern as it ran about the room snapping at itself and trying to catch its tail. Finally he voiced his anxiety by exclaiming, "Don't you eat your sef (seif), doggie, we just got you yesterday."

A SHREWD SCHEME

Writing of the Russian revolution, which "has destroyed from top to bottom the whole political and social fabric of a once mighty empire," Baron Rosen calls attention to an important cause of popular unrest and upheaval not only in Russia but in other parts of the world—as follows:

The masses of mankind have never been able to live without a religious faith responding to the craving of the human soul for consolation and support in the trials of life. The waning faith of the toiling masses in revealed religion is a lamentable fact that cannot be ignored. Its total disappearance would leave a void which only a new faith could fill, and that new faith would seem to be socialism. There is the danger, and that is why the walls of Moscow are plastered by the Bolshevists with placards denouncing religion as the opium of the bourgeoise, invented to befuddle the minds of the proletariat in order the better to enslave it.

This is indeed one of the most persistent policies of modern revolutionists of the Bolshevist type. Before making much real progress they find it necessary to attack the churches and undermine faith in a future beyond the grave. Before drawing men into a bloody revolutionary movement they first convince them that there is no future life of ideal justice and that if they want their share of happiness they must grab it here, with bloody hands if necessary, instead of waiting to get their reward in a heaven "invented" by their earthly masters.

KINDRED SPIRITS.

The Anti-Saloon League, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and other organizations engaged in the process or devoted to the policy of legislating morality into the people, have officially protested that they are in no way associated with the anti-tobacco or blue law crusaders. This has tended to allay the awakening alarm of smokers and hard-working people who wish to devote at least a part of Sunday to outdoor or other recreations.

Late news from Kansas indicates that this sense of security may have less real basis than has been confidingly supposed. For in Kansas the W. C. T. U. has now openly joined forces with and given the use of all of its machinery to the battling foes of tobacco. Moreover, in a raid in Topeka the other day, resulting in the confiscation of several truckloads of cigarettes, the raiders were agents of the Anti-Saloon League.

This is what may be expected in other states as soon as it is deemed wise, for liquor and tobacco prohibitionists are akin in spirit and mutual sympathy. The disclaimers of the organizations mentioned above were probably only concessions to the demands of prudence, due to the fear of disturbance even within their own ranks to follow anything like active support of the anti-tobacconists at a time when devoted friends of the "weed" are still so numerous and influential.

It seems that the much talked of "revolt of youth" was not entirely unknown even in the stately and correct Victorian age. Indications of the dreadfulness to come appearing in the British royal family itself. It is related that one of her small grandchildren wrote to Queen Victoria requesting the gift of a guinea and that the Queen refused in a letter full of pious advice, for which the young scapegrace thanked her in due course, adding that he had sold the letter for five guineas.

Princess Antoinette Bibesco, daughter of the celebrated Margot Asquith and wife of the Roumanian attache at Washington, says American men are "charming" but American women "aren't so nice—they are utterly spoiled." What American women will do to her remains to be seen, but American men can hardly fail to be grateful for this one kind word, after being told by all the other foreign observers that they are abject slaves—of their women.

Just listen to Professor McDermott, psychologist of Harvard: "As I watch the American nation speeding onward with irresistible optimism, down the road to destruction, I seem to be contemplating the greatest tragedy in the history of mankind." Can't some body tell this Cassandra in trousers to shut up.

People who want to make this world a better place in which to live should enroll and vote in the primaries. This is where the most good can be done. The primaries are the foundation of good government and the people should wake up.

Beer "schooners" are obsolete, but rum schooners are having their day and a lively one—outside the three-mile limit.

What do you know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper. Look for answers in this column.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. Does the Jerusalem artichoke come from Asia?
2. Name three characteristics that distinguish birds from animals?
3. How many kinds of animals are there in the world?

Answers In Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

Answers To Previous Questions.

1. What animal or bird is most important to the world?

Hard to answer, as circumstances alter cases. Reindeer are highly important to the frozen North, supplying meat, milk, clothing harness, etc. The horse has influenced history, helping in industry, travel, war, and hunting. Cattle, sheep, and goats have been important as food for centuries, also for hides. The birds from which domestic chickens are descended are important as food, and the majority of wild birds as police for insects, weed seed and rodents.

2. Do skunks make any vocal sounds?

Most naturalists say not, and have left written notes to that effect. Perhaps this is because the skunk is difficult to watch long at a time, or close at hand, unless tamed. A pet skunk has been known to make a scolding, chippering noise. "Silent" is the word commonly applied, however.

3. How can beehives be rid of ants?

Try destroying ant hills near the hives. If ordinary size, bore into the hills with a foot-long stake, and into this tunnel pour kerosene or gasolene. Extensive colonies may need a number of holes driven, and a tablespoonful of bisulphide of carbon poured into each tunnel, with the mouths stopped with an earth plug. This is dangerous to breathe, and terribly explosive. Healthy bee colonies should be able to fight ants in the hives unless the incoming ant army is too numerous.

Come on along!

Fill up your makin's papers with P. A.

Greatest sport you know to pull out your makin's papers and some Prince Albert and roll up a cigarette! That's because P. A. is so delightfully good and refreshing in a cigarette—just like it is in a jimmy pipe! You never seem to get your fill—P. A.'s so joy'usly friendly and appetizing.

Prince Albert will be a revelation to your taste! No other tobacco at any price is in its class! And, it rolls up easily because it's crimp cut and it stays put.

It's the best bet you ever laid that you'll like Prince Albert better than any cigarette you ever rolled!

And listen! If you have a jimmy pipe hankering—by all means know what Prince Albert can do for you! It's a revelation in a pipe as well as in a cigarette! P. A. can't bite or parch. Both are cut out by our exclusive patented process.

Prince Albert is sold in tippy red bags, tidy red tins, handsome pound and half pound tin humidors and in the pound crystal glass humidor with sponge moistener top.

The Romance of the Pearl.

The romance which surrounds the pearl is as old as history. Cleopatra dissolved and swallowed a pearl valued at $400,000 in honor of Antony; Sir Thomas Gresham dining with Queen Elizabeth, dissolved a pearl worth $80,000 and drank it.

France and Scotland Once Allies.

French influence is very marked in a number of Scotch words, which is not very surprising in view of the fact that from the early part of the Fourteenth century until the accession of James VI to the English throne, France and Scotland were allies.

LEGION TEAM LOOKING FOR GAME

Portland, Maine, Team, On Way South, Would Like Game Here August 31.

The following letter has been received by Kingston Post, No. 150, American Legion:

Portland, Maine, Aug. 13, 1921.
To:
Kingston Post No. 150, A. L.,
Kingston, N. Y.,
Gentlemen and comrades:

We have recently organized a baseball team known as the Veterans, composed of former ex-service men only.

We are starting in a body for the third annual convention of the American Legion to be held in Kansas City.

We will pass through Kingston, N. Y., on August 31st on our way south. Now, comrades, we hope you can arrange a baseball game for us on that date with your legion team, if not, with the city team. We hope you will give us your support in this matter and that our visit to your city will be a success for us both.

Please write us at your earliest convenience and thanking you in advance, we remain,

THE VETERAN BASEBALL TEAM
by
William Doran, Manager.

Kingston Post has no baseball team and the letter has been turned over to Judge Harry Schirick of the local "Colonials."

ANNUAL REUNION AT BOICEVILLE

Ashokan Reservoir District Neighbors Will Gather At Lambert's Grove Labor Day, Rain Or Shine.

As usual, rain or shine, fair weather or foul, come what will, the Boiceville Reunion of all former or present residents of Boiceville, Shokan and the reservoir district generally, will be held at the beautiful Lambert Grove in Boiceville on Labor Day, September 5th. There will be no long speeches, no political harangues, no side shows, but just a chance for neighbor to greet and visit with old neighbor and a chance to break bread together.

Everybody brings just a little more grub than is necessary for the family, in case a visitor drops in to share it. The Godfather of the institution, the beloved Mr. Lambert, will be there; also the Rev. M. Ingersoll, with one of his short inspiring talks, and H. M. Eppes of Accord to help everyone sing the old songs together. The weather is due to be fair this year, so let everybody come with abundance of good grub and the neighborly spirit.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons In This Vicinity.

Blanche Stoutenburg, of Brooklyn, died at the home of Robert Stoutenburg in Glenford on Saturday, August 13th, after a lingering illness, aged 39 years. She is survived by her mother and two brothers, all of whom reside in Brooklyn. A short service was held at the home of Robert Stoutenburg, Sunday afternoon, at 2 o'clock and the following morning the remains were shipped to Brooklyn for services and interment.

Edward Clark, Jr., forty-five years old, one of the best known newspaper men in the east, dropped dead at 11 o'clock Tuesday night while in the performance of his duties as night editor of the Troy Morning Record. His death was caused by heart trouble resulting from acute indigestion. Mr. Clark was widely known as a sports editor and practical newspaper man, at one time being employed on the Knickerbocker Press, later on the Albany Times Union and in the Albany bureau of the Associated Press.

About That Skeleton.

Joseph A. Bower, owner of the farm on which the skeleton of a negro was found Monday, desires The Freeman to state that the farm has been in the possession of the Bower family upwards of thirty years during which time they never employed any help. He recalls having heard his father state that a former owner had a negro in his employ. Louis Ummerle, Frank Sanford and William Stanley, who were with Mr. Bower when the skeleton was found, were drawing sand for William Lawton's foundry, where they are employed.

To Punish Wife Beaters.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Rockville, Md., Aug. 17.—Public whipping as a punishment for wife beating was restored here today.

Judge Viett ordered Sheriff Nicholson to lay a dozen lashes on the bare backs of Frank Williams and Clem Green, negroes, both found guilty of wife beating. A date has not been set for the lashing.

BOXING THURSDAY AT THE POINT

There will be a number of fast boxing bouts staged at Kingston Point Park Thursday evening for the benefit of the wounded soldiers at the Knauth home on Albany avenue. The bouts will be staged under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus and Jacob Lay, who has charge of a number of the concessions at the park. Several weeks ago the soldiers were the guests of the K. of C. and Mr. Lay, and spent a most enjoyable time.

MAJOR DELANOY HERE.

Inventor Of Tear Gas Used By Police Departments.

Major Delanoy was in Kingston on Tuesday renewing old acuaintances. He will be remembered as the man who was captain of Company I, 71st Regiment, when that company was quartered at the state armory here during the World War. From Kingston he was sent to Spartanberg and became a member of the gas division. He became an expert in gas and during the war traveled over the country instructing gas units for service overseas. Owing to his ability he was unable to secure his discharge from the service until six months ago. He is now developing the tear gas which is being used by some of the larger police departments in the country to dispel mobs. While in Kingston Tuesday he met and talked with Major Chandler and a number of other friends he had made while stationed at the armory here.

Sugar Dividend Passed.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Aug. 17.—The directors of the Cuban-American Sugar Company today passed the dividend on the common stock. Three months ago the dividend was reduced from $1 to 50c a share. The regular quarterly preferred dividend of 1¾ was declared. The low price and large stock of sugar was responsible for the suspension of the dividend, the company announced. The directors of the National Sugar Company today reduced the quarterly dividend from $2.50 to $1.75.

New Receivers Named.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Aug. 17—Emmet McCormick and Herbert Noble were appointed today by Judge Manton in the Federal court joint receivers for the United States Mail Steamship Company in a joint bond of $50,000.

McCormick is a member of the shipping firm of Moore and McCormick. Noble belongs to the law firm of Noble, Estabrook and McHarg.

Their appointment followed the refusal of Arthur J. Baldwin to serve as receiver.

Muscle Shoals Offer a Fake.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 17.—The telegraphic offer for the Muscle Shoals, Ala., nitrate plant, which Secretary of War Weeks received yesterday, probably was a "fake," the secretary said today. The offer was supposed to have come from an official of the Alabama Power Company, but the secretary said he had been unable to identify the signer of the telegram as connected with the power company.

Chicago Grain Market.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, Aug. 17—Wheat closed 2 to 2½ lower; corn was ⅛ to ½ lower and oats were unchanged to ⅛ lower.

FARM BUREAU PICKS STAR TEAM

The Farm Bureau has picked its team for the great picnic ball game on Wednesday, August 31. Following is the tentative line up: Dave Burgevin, captain and second base; Abe Jansen, pitcher; Chet. Young., first base; Bill Warren, right field; Fred DuBois, center field; Ed. Hathaway, catcher; Johnny Saxe, third base; Fatty Chase, short stop, Will Haviland, left field.

With material which of course is not so good to pick from, the Chamber of Commerce is having some difficulty in getting together a team of the class of the Farm Bureau selection. Many are declining to join the city team on the ground that is would make them appear ridiculous to enter a game with antagonists of the style and dash of these farmers.

The respective managers of the teams are consulting together to promulgate special rules to govern the game. A special form of lightning ball is to be adopted. The composition of this ball is of course secret but a reporter by signing the required bonding papers was able to obtain one. To be fair to the public and standing more or less in the position of umpire, it was deemed advisable to have an examination of one of these balls made by an expert cremist. Such examination reveals the following analysis: one third ground glass, probably to obtain that lightning quality; three-fourths powered sand burrs, used no doubt to enable the players to hold the ball; one-half solid lead, for body; Bureau chemist is at a loss to know why these eggs were used but he thinks they were probably put in to offer some incentive for the players of one side to throw them at the others.

There are other materials in the ball, such as gun cotton, T. N. T. sea foam, powered charcoal, slippery elm, etc., but as these are used in all league balls no particular stress is laid on them. It can safely be said after examination that there is nothing so remarkable about these balls that the managers should have attached the word "special" to them. They are just fair balls and nothing more.

A "special" catapult is being built at the home plate to throw D Burgevin and F. Chase to first base after they hit the ball. It is not expected these machines will be used much, as so far no means have been devised to get the players around back to the home plate.

The distance between bases has been lengthened to twelve hundred feet to give the fielders time to get the ball back in the diamond before dark.

As further details are arranged, The Freeman will be glad to give them to the public.

Cross Ocean In 24 Hours.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 17—Plans for the "aero cruiser," a giant dirigible which is claimed to be capable of a 24-hour flight to London from New York, are going forward speedily and successful tests of a new type of motor have just been completed at Detroit, the Aero-Cruiser Corporation of America announced from its offices here today. The new motor, a tandem, will be capable of propelling a 530-foot "aero cruiser," with a gas capacity of 3,800,000 cubic feet more than a million feet greater than the capacity of the ZR-2, the announcement declares. The company engineers claim that their proposed dirigible will be able to carry from 200 to 250 persons through the air at a speed of 100 miles an hour or more.

Thoreau on Channing.

I heard Channing lecture to-night. It was a bushel of nuts. Perhaps the most original lecture I ever heard. Ever so unexpected, not to be foretold, and so sententious that you could not look at him and take his thought at the same time. You had to give your undivided attention to the thoughts, for you were not assisted by set phrases or modes of speech intervening. It was all genius, no talent. For, well as I know C., he more than any man disappoints my expectation. When I see him in the desk, hear him, I cannot realize that I ever saw him before. He will be strange, unexpected, to his best acquaintance. I cannot associate the lecturer with the companion of my walk. The lecture was full of wise, acute, and witty observations, yet most of the audience did not know but it was mere incoherent and reckless verbiage and nonsense.—"Henry David Thoreau," by E. B. Sanborn.

Where Darwin Was Wrong.

Talk about Darwinian theory of development, and the principle of natural selection! I should like to see a garden left to run in accordance with it. If I had left my vegetables and weeds to a free fight, in which the strongest specimens only should come to maturity, and the weaker go to the wall, I can clearly see that I should have had a pretty mess of it. It would have been a scene of passion, license and brutality. This "pusley" would have strangled the strawberry; the upright corn, which has now ears to hear the guilty beating of the hearts of children who steal the raspberries, would have been dragged to the earth by the wandering bean; the snakegrass would have left no place for the potato under ground; and the tomatoes would have been swamped by the lusty weeds. With a firm hand I have had to make my own natural selection.—Charles Dudley Warner.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Aug. 17.—Stocks were in free supply this morning and the market sustained fresh losses. Mexican Petroleum declined ⅝ to 90¼. Royal Dutch receded ¾ to 48. Sinclair Oil declined ¼ to 17. Texas company advanced ⅛ to 32¾. Retail Stores declined ½ to 49⅛. U. S. Steel declined ¾ to 73½. General Asphalt was off ½ at 42½. Reading was unchanged at 66⅞. General Electric was off ⅝ to 110⅛. American Sugar was unchanged at 62½, and U. S. Rubber was down ⅜ to 47⅝. By the end of the first fifteen minutes, however, Mexican Petroleum was forced down 1⅞ to 89 and United Fruit fell 1⅝ to 99⅛. Railway Steel Spring dropped 1½ to 69. U. S. Industrial Alcohol declined nearly one point to 44½. Declines of ⅛ to ¼ took place in the railway shares. Business was on a very limited scale.

Mexican Petroleum and one or two others were singled out for attack. Mexican Petroleum was forced down two point to 89 and United Fruit fell to 99⅛. By 11 o'clock, however, bearish pressure had relaxed and Mexican Petroleum rallied 1½ from the low. For the first time this week recoveries brought a number of stocks above the previous closing prices.

The action of the market was more spirited in mid-afternoon although the volume of dealings showed little if any increase. Covering of short contracts was obviously the main incentive. By the beginning of the last hour some stocks showed net gains. Railway Steel Spring showed a net improvemtnt of 2 points at 71. Recoveries of one point or more from the early prices resulted in net advances ranging from ½ to one point in American Woolen, American Locomotive, Baldwin Locomotive and Crucible. A weak feature was New York Air Brake which showed a loss of three points at 50.

The market closed strong; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds steady.

Where Milk is Cheap.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Wheeling, W. Va., Aug. 17.—Milk is retailing her today for six cents a quart. A price war is the cause.

A Useful Fish.

They have a remarkable fish in Nova Scotia. It is known as the frost fish, because it can be frozen solid; but if placed in water it soon thaws out and swims around as vigorously as ever. The natives, we are told, use this fish in making ice cream. The fish is caught, frozen and placed in the cream. In thawing out it freezes the cream and its movements at the same time beat the mixture, making it nice and smooth. It is a fresh water fish, but the story requires a lot of salt.

Candles on Birthday Cakes.

The custom of placing candles on a birthday cake—one for each year—comes from Germany. The Germans placed a thick one in the center, called Lebenslicht, the light of life. Only he or she who declares his or her birthday may put out the light of life; it is unlucky if done by any other member of the family. The lights are symbols of life and its portions the years. For persons advanced in years one candle must do duty, as otherwise too many would be required.

Telephone to Deaf.

The receiver of a telephone set for the deaf that has been invented in Germany is small enough to be hidden in a person's ear, while the transmitter can be carried in a handbag or fastened to clothing.

The peasants of the Abruzzi district in Italy pay yearly devotion dur ing the festival of Santo Gennaro. They creep on their hands and knee from the entrance of the cathedral to the altar and during the journey chant prayers of thanks, each time kissing the floor. This custom date back for centuries. The photo shows "The crawl of the faithful."

Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks are here shown taking the daily dip in the pool in the garden of their home, which is known "Pickfair" and which is located near Hollywood, California. This is t first occasion on which Miss Pickford has consented to be snapshotted a bathing suit. Note the mustache Doug. has raised.

Confirmed Superstitious Belief.

An instance of the coastal belief that a horse always goes back to its old home after death is reported by a British Columbia reader. A contractor lost a horse by drowning on the west coast of Vancouver island. It was towed out to sea; next day it floated back in again. The carcass was again towed out, only to return to the beach four days after. On both occasions it was towed several miles before being cast adrift; also a strong ebb tide was running at the time.

Remarkable Work of Art.

A remarkable medal was exhibited on Lincoln's birthday by Anton Erickson of Minneapolis, a metal engraver. The medal, of gold, is only the size of a 1-cent piece, yet it contains on one side, in beautiful detail, a medallion of the head of Lincoln and on the other the entire Gettysburg address, totaling 1,200 words. The address cannot be read by the naked eye, but under a magnifying glass it becomes perfectly distinct.

Snake Hypnotized Hen.

An Alberta (Canada) reader says that a farmer and his wife noticed a hen in the yard standing very still but squeaking in a terrified manner. They watched it a few moments but could see no cause for her fear. They went out and found a snake looking at the hen. The hen didn't move until the snake was driven away, so they supposed the hen had been hypnotized.

Peculiar Relationship.

In a well-known town in New Brunswick a man and his son were courting a woman and her daughter. The father married the daughter and the son the mother. The daughter thus become the mother-in-law to her mother and the son father-in-law to his father.

Lake Poets Marked by Simplicity.

The term "Lake Poets" was applied by the Edinburgh Review, early in the Nineteenth century, to a group of poets, whose chief representatives—Wordsworth, Southey and Coleridge—dwelt in the lake district of England. The Lake Poets protested against the stiff and formal poetry in vogue, and were distinguished by their simplicity of style and close adherence to Nature. Lamb, Lloyd and Wilson also were included under the designation. The lake district is a region in the northwestern part of England, comprising the counties of Westmoreland and Cumberland, together with a small part of Lancashire. There are about sixteen lakes in the district, which extends about thirty miles north and south and twenty-five miles east and west, and abounds in picturesque and sublime scenery. It is visited annually by thousands of tourists.

Flag Etiquette.

When the flag passes in a parade or review, the spectator should, if walking, halt; if sitting, arise, stand at attention and salute. Civilians should remove their hats, although women are expected only to stand respectfully until the colors pass. All men in uniform of any branch of the army and navy are required to stand at attention and salute until the colors have passed.

The above officiary is a guarantee that the business of this company will be conducted in a legitimate and business-like manner, with every precaution and safeguard for the interests of investors.

THE PURPOSE OF THE COMPANY is the manufacture of the Bachelet Electro-Magnetic Therapeutic Wave Generator, now being used by reputable physicians throughout the country with such success that the demand for this appliance is increasing far in excess of our original expectations.

ALL OUR PRODUCTS ARE COVERED BY BASIC PATENTS, issued to Mr. Emile Bachelet and now owned and controlled exclusively by this company—hence, we have no competition in our particular line of production. Our field is as big as the world itself, as wherever humanity exists, there is need of a BACHELET. Physicians, Hospitals, Sanitariums, Podiatrists, Beauty Parlors, Baths and private individuals provide an unlimited demand for the different types of appliance which we manufacture.

THE SALE OF OUR PRODUCT is now being handled by some of the largest medical supply houses in the United States and we are continually receiving inquiries from other dealers at home and abroad who are anxious to take over the sale of the BACHELET as soon as they can be assured of a constant supply sufficient to meet the demands of their trade.

This company is at present realizing a very satisfactory profit from the sale of its product, and with increased production and decreasing cost of raw materials, a much larger margin of return is assured.

YOU can become associated with us in this business, which offers such good money-making possibilities, and you owe it to yourself to get the facts first hand by detaching and mailing the coupon below.

State Funeral For King Peter.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Belgrade, Aug 17—Preparations are under way today for an imposing state funeral for the venerable King Peter, who is dead at the age of 76 after a long illness. His death made no change in the government of Jugo-Slavia as Prince Regent Alexander has been the ruler of the country since the war. The death of Peter brought to an end one of the most stormy and spectacular careers in Europe. He ascended the throne of Servia after his predecessor had been murdered, but it was never proven that Peter had instigated the assassination. Peter lived to see the dream of his life realized—the expansion of his country to the Adriatic absorbing Albania and Slav territory formerly owned by Austria, Greece and Bulgaria.

The Collar Price War.

The 15 cent collar will now come back. Tuesday at Troy the wholesale price was cut by Corliss, Coon & Company to $1.45 a dozen, a drop of 30 per cent. From that fixed by other Troy manufacturers. Last week Cluett, Peabody & Company cut wholesale collar prices from $2.10 to $1.90 a dozen, and Monday Earl & Wilson cut its price to $1.75.

DROWNED AT RIFTON.

New York City Boarder Caught In Strong Current of Wallkill Creek.

Monday afternoon Thomas Moors, 16 years old, of New York city, was drowned in the Wallkill creek at Rifton. The young lad was boarding in the vicinity and had gone into the creek for a swim when he was caught in one of the many strong currents and was carried beneath the surface. The body was recovered a short time later and after Coroner W. N. Conner had made an investigation the body was turned over to Undertaker James V. Halloran who shipped it to the home in New York.

NO WOMAN IS STRONGER THAN HER NERVES

No electric power station is stronger than the amount of electricity stored therein. Your brain and nervous system consists of countless millions of cells. In these cells is stored a mighty mysterious energy called "nerve force" on which all thought, force, energy and even life itself must depend.

If you overtax your nerves by worry, overwork, too much excitement, grief or constant nervous strain, and thereby use up your nerve force or nerve-vitalizing faster than it is made, you are bound in time to become a nervous wreck with all its horrible torturous and sufferings.

In such cases, avoid more stimulating medicines and narcotic drugs. What you need is something to put more nerve force into your weak, devitalized nerve cells. This is most effectively accomplished by the free use of Nuxated Iron, as it not only contains organic iron to enrich your blood, but it also contains the principal chemical constituent of active living nerve force, so that it may be said to be both a blood and a nerve food. It often increases the strength, vigor and endurance of weak, tired, nervous, worn out women in two weeks' time. Satisfactory results are guaranteed to every purchaser or the manufacturers will refund your money. Nuxated Iron for the blood and nerves is sold by all druggists.

NEW YORK STATE CROPS ARE LIGHT

In common with all of the other states along the Canadian border as far west as the Rockies, New York will have unusually poor crops this year. From present indications the yields per acre will be 17 per cent below the average during the past ten years. This is chiefly due to the dry weather of May and June, which in most of the northern and western counties and around Lake Ontario continued through July and into August. Most crops except corn were also unfavorably affected by the exceptionally hot weather, the average July temperature over most of the state this year being nearly as high as the usual July temperature in Washington, D. C., or in Springfield, Ill., in the heart of the corn belt.

Corn gives promise of being a bumper crop, but millet, buckwheat and alfalfa seem to be the only other field crops that are up to their usual average. Hay and spring grains, which together make up ⅔ of the total acreage of crops, are particularly poor. In the northern counties where the hay is the shortest and farmers are being compelled to reduce their dairy herds, cows are selling for an average of only $45, an amount which would now buy only two tons of hay in that part of the state. According to John B. Shepard of the U. S. Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates, the yield of hay in this state this year will be only about one ton per acre, instead of the usual 1.3 tons. Oats will yield only 27 bushels per acre instead of the usual 33. Pastures, while improving, were poorer on August 1st than they have been on that date since 1911. Wheat yielded a bushel per acre less than usual and rye two bushels less. Beans seem likely to fall one or two bushels per acre below the usual yield. Potatoes, cabbage and onions were each about 10 per cent poorer than usual on August 1st but may improve with better growing weather later in the season.

Fruit prospects are better than they were a month ago but they are still poor. The apple crop will be only 38 per cent as large as last year's crop but larger than the 1919 crop. Pears will be two-thirds of last year's crop but about the same as the 1919 crop. There will be about as many peaches in the state as there were last year but less than half the tonnage of grapes.

A month ago, when crops were much better elsewhere than they were in this state, the situation was quite discouraging for New York farmers, but during the last month general crop prospects declined nearly 12 per cent in the group of states extending from Ohio to Iowa and north to the Canadian border, and as these states compete with New York in the production of milk, potatoes, cabbage, beans and many other products, the fact that they have been seriously affected by drouth has already had the effect of increasing the prices of several farm products in this state. Dairy products have been particularly affected, the farm price of butter, for example, increased 20 per cent between July 1st and August 1st. Most fruits and vegetables are also bringing better prices than seemed probable earlier in the season. In respect to prices, farmers in this state are now faring better than those of the grain producing states, for during July the prices of the principal grains all declined, notwithstanding the fact that the yields will all be less than seemed probable a month ago.

THE LOST SWEETHEART

Theirs, they fondly believed, was the perfect love, the happiness that nothing could spoil.

But there is a serpent in every Eden.

A jealous woman, a carefully planted seed of discord, a very tiny lie, a quickly wrecked home—these are all old familiar ingredients of tragedy, but put together in a new way in this fascinating story.

Mary Miles Minter, in two equally lovable roles gives you the best work of her career in this beautiful picture.

AT THE THEATRES.

Mary Miles Minter at Keeney's—"Hush" at Auditorium.

"All Souls' Eve," from the Anne Crawford Flexner success of last season on Broadway, is the Mary Miles Minter vehicle showing at Keeney's tonight. It provides an interesting dual role for Miss Minter, and the star is also shown as a ghost several several times. Jack Holt the charming leading man is also delightfully cast. The comedy feature is "The Elephant's Nightmare" a conglomeration of funny antics with wondrous animals making laughter continuous. Thursday is one of the star attraction of the week when Margerite Clark makes her triumphant return to the screen in "Scrambled Wives."

In Sada Cowan's story, "Hush" at the Auditorium tonight, with Clara Kimball Young, the wife told her husband of her first and only great mistake, long forgotten. But he never forgot, nor could he forgive. Miss Young's gowns are a marvel to behold and cost a fortune alone. Eileen Sedgewick in "The Diamond Queen" is also featured. Thursday Art Accord in "The White Horseman."

NO other factor than public appreciation of the SPECIAL-SIX spread mouth-to-mouth fashion by prideful owners, could account for the unquestioned popularity that it enjoys today. THE GAME LAWS FOR 1921.

Few Changes in Provisions Found in Lately Issued Syllabus.

The new fish and game syllabus has lately been issued. It contains few changes from the laws of a year ago, but will be of interest to sportsmen insofar as it relates to open season for fish and game. The more important changes are as follows:

Trout—Open season first Saturday in April to August 31, inclusive; minimum length, six inches; day limit, ten pounds to a person. Trout must not be sold.

Bass—Open season, June 16 to Nov. 30; minimum length, ten inches; limit per day to one person, fifteen.

Frogs—Open season, July 1 to March 31.

Pickerel and Pike—May 1 to March 1, open season.

Deer—Open season in Ulster, Sullivan, Rensselaer, Delaware, Columbia, Greene and Orange counties, Nov. 1-15; in Adirondack counties, Nov. 7 to 19, inclusive. Only buck deer may be killed.

Rabbits—Open season, Oct. 15 to March 1; limit, six per day.

Raccoon and Skunk—Open season, Nov. 10 to Feb. 10.

Squirrels—Open season, Oct. 15 to Nov. 15. Bag limit, five per day.

Mink—Nov. 10 to March 15.

Muskrat—Dec. 1 to March 31.

Ducks and Geese—May be taken Sept. 16 to Dec. 31, inclusive.

Partridge—Open season, Oct. 15 to Nov. 15, with a bag limit of two a day to a person and ten in a season.

Additional provisions may be found in the syllabus which may be secured on request.

CANFIELD'S HAT IS IN THE RING

Files Petition At Last Minute And His Name Goes On The Primary Ballot—Other Contests—Full List Of Names On Prinfary Tickets.

Tuesday was the last day for filing petitions designating candidates for county and city offices with the Ulster county board of elections and the commissioners kept their office in the county building, John and Crown streets, open last night until midight. The official designations by the Republican, Democratic and Prohibition organizations were filed early. As was foretold in The Freeman, Palmer Canfield, Jr., present mayor, who failed to secure the recommendation for designation of the Republican unofficial city convention as their choice for nomination, filed a petition with the board of elections shortly before midnight and will contest for the nomination with Walter P. Crane the convention's choice, at the primary on September 13. His petitions had about 750 signers, 500 more than necessary under the state election law. There will be a contest for the nomination on the Republican ticket for supervisor between Charles H. Van Gaasbeck and Floyd Weiss who each received 91 votes at the Third ward caucus. Charles H. Buchholtz and Josiah Doughty, Republicans, are contesting for the nomination for alderman in the Tenth ward. There will be Democratic contests in the Seventh ward for nomination for supervisor between Joseph Schuler, the present incumbent, and Anthony Bowers who filed a petition. In the same ward Nicholas A. Huber and Joseph A. Kelly, Democrats, will contest on Primary Day, for nomination for alderman.

August 26 is the last day to file declination certificates, and August 30 the last day to fill vacancy after declination of desination.

Tagging All The Bases.

The lowly Phils held the Pirates to an even break but they gained a half game on the Giants, thanks to Babe Adams winning of the second half of the twin bill.

Those ambitious Dodgers took the measure of McGraw's men with Grimes on the mound by making a three-run rally in the ninth.

The winning streak of the Browns was broken by Detroit. The Tigers hammered Van Gilders hard.

The once great Alex held no fears for the Braves who knocked him into the showers of the sixth. Cruise hit a homer into the right field bleachers, one of the longest possible hits in big league parks.

PORKY PIG'S BIRTHDAY.

"Wish me many happy returns," said Porky, "for today is my birthday. And bring me presents, Pigs; be sure you bring me presents.

"I will be at home to all the pigs in the pen at four this afternoon or any time before that you want to come with your presents.

"Perhaps it would be better for each of you to come, one at a time for then no one else would be apt to grab away any of my presents.

"I am not making a list of what I want, for you all know I am sure, that food presents are the presents that your dear Grandfather Porky Pig likes."

"We all know that, we all know that, grunt, grunt,' said the other pigs.

"Don't forget," said Porky, "don't forget that it is my birthday."

"How do you know that it is your birthday?" asked Miss Ham. "Squeal, squeal, how do you know that?"

"Yes, that is so, how do you know that?' asked Pinky Pig. "Grunt, grunt how do you know that?"

"Squeal, squeal," said Pinky Pig's mother, "how do you know it is your birthday?"

"Grunt, grunt, how do you know it is your birthday, indeed?' asked Sammy Sausage.

"You had a birthday not long ago," said Porky Pig to Sammy Sausage, "so I don't see any reason why I shouldn't have one."

"I haven't had a birthday party for ever and ever so long,' said Sammy Sausage. "Grunt, grunt, it is time I should have a birthday party.'

"Grunt, grunt, how do you know it is your birthday?" asked Master Pink Pig.

"How do you know it, Porky? Tell us, grunt, grunt," said Mrs. Pink Pig.

"I know that I was born on a certain day," said Porky, "and I know that since that day a great great, great many days have passed, even months and perhaps I should say years, too, and so I say this is my birthday."

"But that is no reason for it being your birthday,' said Brother Bacon. "Grunt, grunt, that is no reason.

"No reason at all," said Miss Ham, "squeal, squeal, no reason at all.'

"No reason at all, grunt, grunt," said Pinky Pig.

"No reason at all, squeal, squeal," said Pinky Pig's mother.

"No reason at all, grunt, grunt," said Master Pink Pig.

"I agree, squeal, squeal," said Mrs. Pink Pig.

"I should have a birthday when I want to have one," said Grandfather Porky.

"Oh, not a bit of it," said Brother Bacon. "You can't have a birthday when you want one. Grunt, grunt; no, indeed."

"Most certainly not," said Sammy Sausage. "Most certainly not, grunt, grunt."

"You're All Such Pigs."

"Squeal, squeal, squeal, who ever heard of such a thing?" asked Miss Ham.

"Well," said Grandfather Porky Pig, "I see that you aren't taking kindly to the ideas of giving me birthday presents, for you're all such pigs you don't want to part with any food.

"But no matter, I will say that this is my birthday whether it is or not, and I will go and look for all the food I can and I will give myself as many food presents as I can."

"Well you are a pig," said Sammy Sausage.

"No more so than yourself," said Grandfather Porky.

"He is certainly a pig, and grandfather of all of us," said the other pigs.

But Porky paid no more attention to them. He walked off by himself and as he found some pig weed he said to himself with every bite he took,

"Many happy returns of the day Porky and may your whole life be blessed with food!"

SEASONABLE DISHES.

Pineapple juice is especially refreshing and is also valuable as a medicine.

As an addition to cocktails, fruit cups and salads it is especially valuable. When pineapples are reasonable in price it is desirable to put them up at home, but the canned variety, if a good brand is obtained, is not an extravagance.

Pineapple Marmalade.—Peel and chop as many pineapples as are desired. Weigh and allow a pound of sugar for each pound of fruit. Mix well and let stand over night in a cool place. In the morning cook until soft enough to put through a sieve. Strain, return to the preserving kettle and continue cooking, stirring constantly until a clear amber jelly is formed. This will thicken when cool. Put into small jars; cover and seal. This marmalade is fine for dainty desserts, cake fillings and such dishes.

White Layer Cake.—Cream one-half cupful of butter, add one and one-half cupfuls of sugar gradually, flavor with a half teaspoonful of rose extract, add one-half cupful of milk and two cupfuls of pastry flour sifted with four level teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Mix well, then fold in the stiffly-beaten whites of eight eggs. This makes three layers of exceptional quality. For filling, use lemon or orange, or a combination of both. An egg yolk, two tablespoonfuls of flour, two tablespoonfuls of water with the rind and juice of a lemon and a half cupful or more of sugar. Cook together, adding a little butter just before taking from the fire. Cool before adding to the cake.

Graham Gems.—A hot muffin or gem is welcome occasionally even in warm weather. These are easy to make and very light and good. Take one cupful of sour milk, one teaspoonful of soda, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one egg and two tablespoonfuls of melted shortening added after one cupful of graham flour. Beat well and fill well-greased corn pans. This recipe makes six good-sized gems.

"X" BEIDLER, WHO SENT HIS WIFE TO "ROME"

One day in 1869 when the Nile one of the old time wood-burning Missouri steamers stopped near the mouth of Muscleshell river in Montana to take on wood, two "woodhawks" came aboard. "Woodhawks were men who cut firewood and corded it up on the banks of the river to sell to the steamboats. These famen were famous frontier character "X" Beidler and "Liver-Eatin' Johnson.

Among the passengers on the Nile was a party of eastern tourists among them several women, who were enjoying for the first time the thrill of being in the wildest 'Wild West.' They were especially delighted at the appearance of Beidler and Johnson and at once began asking questions of these "picturesque characters," as they called them. The woodhawks were not especially pleased to be treated like a pair of Indians, so said nothing about it. Finally one of the women inquired: "Mr. Beidler are you married?"

"Yes," replied "X."

"Oh, I would never have guessed it. Is—is your wife, ah—a white woman?"

"Indian," grunted Beidler.

"How delightful! A native of the great plains! Where is she now?

"Oh, I've sent her to Rome," said the woodhawk.

"To Rome? To be educated? How romantic! Do you mean Rome, Italy?

"No," answered "X," with a grin smile. "To roam on the prairie."

The woman stopped asking questions.

Beidler served as a scout with General Miles in the Sioux war of 1876, but he was better known as a vigilante leader in the early Montana mining camp. John X. Beidler was his real name, but he was called "X" Beidler because he always signed his warnings to western "bad men" with the single mysterious letter "X." One such warning was usually enough to make the bad man leave camp.

Later "X" was sheriff of Lewis and Clark county. He once invited the governor of Montana and other state officials to visit his jail and inspect a new steel cage of which he was very proud. The officials came and Beidler took them into the cage.

"Now, dern ye!" he said to his prisoners, "I've been edgin' off lately when I was tellin' my stories of the old days an' not listenin' to 'em. Now, I reckon you'll listen."

He kept them there three hours and told them every story he knew!

THE U.S. USCO TREAD

Here is the U. S. Usco Tread, with a long-established standard of service among motorists who have an eye to value, as well as to price. While selling for less than the other tires in the U. S. Fabric line, the Usco has earned a reputation for quality and dependable economy which is not exceeded by any tire in its class.

United States Tires are Good Tires

U. S. USCO TREAD
U. S. CHAIN TREAD
U. S. NOBBY TREAD
U. S. ROYAL CORD
U. S. RED & GREY TUBES

From the makers of U.S. Royal Cords to the users of Fabric Tires

"Giving to the fabric tire user fresh, live tires. Being made now. Being shipped now."

IN all of modern merchandising the biggest conundrum is the fabric tire situation.

Around 70% of all car owners use fabric tires.

Their instinct for quality is as strong and insistent as any one else's.

Why, then, are they offered such hodge-podge stocks of "discount tires," "odd lots," "seconds," "retreads" and other so-called bargains of uncertain origin?

Sooner or later the public always seeks out quality. As a matter of self-protection—if for no other reason. The out-and-out opinion in favor of U. S. Fabric Tires has spread more this year than it ever did.

People have gotten very close to the U. S. policy. Felt it. Benefited by it. And passed the word along.

It's a policy settled to one standard for all U. S. Tires. Whether fabrics or cords. Small sizes or large.

Giving to the fabric tire user fresh, live tires. Being made now. Being shipped now.

All the original U. S. vitality and service come through when you buy a U. S. Fabric Tire.

"Usco," "Chain," "Nobby." Three different treads.

Built by the same brains, the same policy, the same quality ideals that have made U. S. Royal Cords the standard measure of tire worth.

WHEN MASONRY WAS POLITICAL ISSUE

Ulster Sentinel Said Harsh Things of the Anti-Masons and Opponents of Jackson-Romeyn's First Paper —An Old Readout Newspaper.

After the flood of bogus copies of the Ulster County Gazette that comes to The Freeman office it is refreshing to receive from Ye Olde Curiosity Shop, 39 Lander street, Newburgh, genuine copies of two old Kingston newspapers, The Political Reformer of October 25, 1837, and The Ulster Sentinel of March 25, 1829. Both are in an excellent state of preservation and were originally the property of M. J Wygant. The Freeman is descended, through the Kingston Journal, being consolidated with it, from the Sentinel, out of which the Journal grew

The Sentinel, in 1829, was edited by Charles G DeWitt and printed in the old stone house that stood until a few years ago opposite the Eagle Hotel Its editor was triumphing over the election of Andrew Jackson and the humiliation of the local opposition. "We have kicked and cuffed and so utterly prostrated the whole corps," he writes, "that nothing, absolutely nothing, is left them but the privilege of complaint." He then refers to the opposition as "mercenary sycophants and hired incendiaries" who have "now put on the horns, the tail, and the cloven feet of Satan to scare people into their ranks by preaching up a crusade against Free Masonry."

Much space is given to the Anti-Mason party, generally and locally, and the editor breaks into verse:

Firm, united we shall be
Rallying round the Hickory tree,
No Anti-Mason, pope or king,
Shall ever clip our eagle's wing.

It seems the Anti-Masons had held a convention in New Paltz, which greatly excited the ire of the editor. Dr. Bogardus being the especial mark for his indignation.

Advertisements of whiskey and lottery tickets appear in the paper Besides being one of the owners of the Ulster County Furnace, James W Baldwin also advertised plows, wagon boxes and sleigh robes at his store "two doors south of the Middle District Bank." James Dumond advertised a new hotel on the road to Hurley Joseph S. Smith and Herman D Gould advertised that that had dissolved partnership and the Kingston Hotel, formerly Pine's Eagle Tavern, on Crown street, was advertised by J. H Ruzer. J. S Smith, on East Front street, advertised almost everything, from sheeting to sleigh bells and whiskey and wanted to buy wheat

The Political Reformer was in its first year in 1837 and was edited by William H Romeyn. He was a Whig and had as harsh words for Democrats and Loco Focos as DeWitt had for the Anti-Masons. A curious practice is shown in an advertisement of the Rondout to New York daily boats, Hudson and Congress, which concludes.

"The Delaware Gazette will please publish the above and forward the bill to this office."

T Powell & Co. advertise the Highlander, running from Newburgh to New York.

Fare by boat from Rondout to New York on the Hudson was $1.

The Eddyville cotton factory offered yarn and cotton bats for sale

Another interesting old newspaper is a copy of the Rondout Courier of March 27, 1868, recently found by Andrew M. Taylor of Port Ewen among the effects of his mother. The principal news story is a call for the citizens of Rondout and Kingston to meet at the court house to consider the means of supplying the two villages with water and to raise money for the preliminary surveys. The call is signed by a large number of leading citizens, not one of whom is now living.

This issue of the Courier prints the valedictory of John P. Hageman as editor, he having sold the paper to W. H. and J. C. Romeyn.

Principal advertisers were James O Merritt, Brodhead & Co.; N. L. Boston & Co., North's Dry Goods House, R. Deyo, B. P. Decker & Brother, F. B. Warner, Morgan Everson, Van Deusen Brothers, A. P. Van Buren, P. A. Caufield, Turck & Burhans and A. S. Staples.

The paper prints a recipe for making corn beer, which The Freeman dare not reprint, as the beverage might contain more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol.

DEMOCRATS FIGHT NEW TAX BILL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug 17.—The opening fight against the tax revision bill began in the house today. With an agreement to vote on the bill at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Democrats decided to make the most of their time in opposing the bill. Opposition to the bill is being directed by Representative Claude Kitchin, Democratic leader, from his sick room in his home at Scotland Neck, N. C. Kitchen's views are being forwarded here by telegraph and will be incorporated in the minority report on the bill which will be filed late today.

It was decided by the Democrats that they would insist the Republican tax plan would not yield the $3,500 000,000 necessary to a safe and sane conduct of the treasury and that the government plan would result in a deficit. They claim that the decision of the Republicans to collect only $3,000,000,000 from internal revenues is bad financing

They present the further argument that the revision of the taxes prepared by the Republicans is inequitable in that it lightens the burdens on the rich but gives little relief to the poorer taxpayers The exemptions for married men and heads of families on incomes up to $5,000 will benefit some, but the mass of taxpayers with incomes from $5,000 to $66,000 will pay the same rates as formerly while those with incomes in excess of $66 000 will have the taxes reduced materially the greatest reduction on largest incomes amounting to about 50 per cent, it is claimed by opponents of the bill

The same inequity in tax reduction is shown, they say, in respect to the corporation net income tax which is increased by the bill from 10 to 12½ per cent The corporations with small earnings will have to pay heavier taxes while the corporations with great incomes by virtue of the repeal of the excess profits tax will pay far less in taxes, amounting in some instances to a reduction of 60 per cent

The Democrats decided in their conference to present no substitute tax revision bill for that presented by the Republicans

Republican leaders are worried today over the action of the house Republicans in forcing changes in the bill delaying repeal of the excess profits and large income surtaxes until January 1, next. Pledges had been given during the last campaign by Republicans for an immediate repeal of these heavy taxes and business was counting on this relief

THE "DOUGHBOY OF IDAHO"

Striking Statue Recently Selected by State's War Memorial Commission, Is Lifelike Study.

It's a far cry indeed from the stiff-necked, primly dressed recruit which flooded America after the armistice as the sculptured representation of the American fighter to the shirt-sleeved, delightfully informal "Doughboy of Idaho," recently selected by the state's war memorial commission to symbolize Idaho's contribution to the World war. The statue, work of Avard Fairbanks, Portland, Ore., and Salt Lake City, Utah, artist, is the most lifelike study of the A. E. F. infantryman as the Boche saw him that American artists have produced, according to both the ex-infantryman and those who have sought to immortalize him in bronze and stone

The Idaho commission has ordered that all counties of the state have memorials alike in character with the addition that Mr. Fairbanks' "Doughboy" be the main feature of each county's memorial. The American Legion of Idaho has been warm in its commendation of the statue and Mr Fairbanks has returned the compliment by informing the service men that: "I am convinced that the American Legion can be a tremendous power in education and in honor and in the glory of our great government. I am indeed enthused with the loyal stand on Americanism which the Legion is holding out for."

LEGION MAN UNION OFFICER

California Organization Adjutant Well Known for Activities With Fellow Laborers.

Fred F. Behergall of San Francisco, who is now serving his second term as department adjutant of the American Legion in California, is one of the most active Legion officers in his state. Behergall also is well-known for his activities in labor union circles.

Behergall's life history is the same in some details as that of many successful men. His father died when he was nine years old and he went to work. He obtained his education at night schools and as he expresses it—the "good old college of hard knocks."

As a union official Behergall has served in nearly every office of the San Francisco Typographical Union No. 21, and as assistant secretary of the California State Federation of Labor.

He was twice rejected for military service on account of impaired vision, but finally obtained a waiver from the secretary of war and was appointed in the medical department of the United States army. He served as a member of Base Hospital Company No. 47 in France and was discharged June 30, 1919, at San Francisco as a sergeant, first class. He immediately became interested in the American Legion and was one of the organizers of the California department.

THE GOOD OLD HYMNS.

There's lots of music in 'em—the hymns of long ago
No when some gray haired brother sings the ones I used to know,
I sorter want to take a hand, I think of days gone by
On Jordan's stormy banks I stand and cast a wistful eye"

There's lots of music in 'em—those dear, sweet hymns of old,
With visions bright of lands of light, and shining streets of gold
And I hear 'em singing—singing, where memory dreaming stands
"From Greenland's icy mountains to India's coral strands"

They seem to sing forever of holier, sweeter days
When the lilies of the love of God bloomed white in all the ways,
And I want to hear their music from the oldtime meetin' rise
Till "I can read my title clear to mansions in the skies"

We never needed sinkin' books in them old days—we knew
The words, the tunes of every one—the dear old hymnbook through
We didn't have no trumpets then no organs built for show,
We only sang to praise the Lord, "from whom all blessings flow"

So I love the good old hymns, and when my time shall come—
When the light has left me, and my singing lips are dumb—
If I can hear 'em sing them then, I'll pass without a sigh
To Canaan's fair and happy land where my possessions lie"

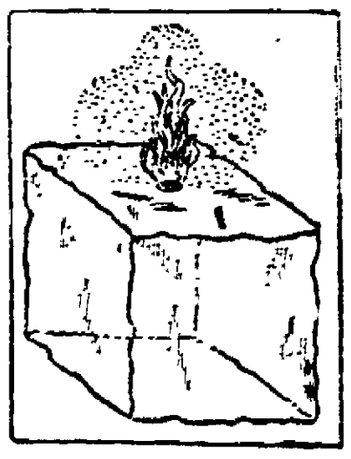
EASY TO BUILD FIRE ON ICE

With the Understanding of the Properties of Gas, It Is Not Hard to Create Illusion.

Carbide or more properly, calcium carbide, is a wonderful substance made in the electric furnace by heating lime and coke writes H Gernsbach in Science and Invention. It is a hard gray stone like material and no doubt familiar to you as the gas generating medium employed in some kinds of bicycle lamps When brought in contact with water it instantly liberates gas, acetylene which gives a brilliant light when properly burned of water (32 degrees F.) ice is always covered with a film of water sufficient to start some action with the carbide. The heat generated by the chemical reaction melts more ice making more heat and generating more gas so that in a moment the lumps will have begun to bore little holes in the ice If a match is applied, the escaping acetylene gas ignites and burns with bright but smoky flame so that to the observer the ice appears to be burning. Since acetylene gas contains nearly carbon when it is burned in the air without special burners, it puts tremendous strain to burn up all this carbon. As a consequence of this richness in carbon, or insufficient oxygen, a veritable "black snowstorm" results in a few minutes.—Detroit Free Press.

This property can be strikingly demonstrated in the following manner.

Place a few lumps of carbide on a block of ice Above the freezing point



Fire and Ice Combined.

Cannibalistic Dog.

Freddie had been given a puppy which was very playful. He watched it with great interest as it ran about the room romping as it ran about the room romping as it went and trying to catch its tail. Finally he turned his mystery by exclaiming: "Dere's one end wags and (self), Gracie, we just got two yesterday."

LEGION TEAM LOOKING FOR GAME

Portland, Maine, Team, On Way South, Would Like Game Here August 31.

The following letter has been received by Kingston Post, No. 150, American Legion:

Portland, Maine, Aug. 13, 1921.
To:
Kingston Post No. 150, A. L.,
Kingston, N. Y.,
Gentlemen and comrades

We have recently organized a baseball team known as the Veterans, composed of former ex-service men only.

We are starting in a body for the third annual convention of the American Legion to be held in Kansas City.

We will pass through Kingston, N. Y., on August 31st on our way south. Now, comrades, we hope you can arrange a baseball game for us on that date with your legion team, if not, with the city team. We hope you will give us your support in this matter and that our visit to your city will be a success for us both.

Please write us at your earliest convenience and thanking you in advance, we remain,
THE VETERAN BASEBALL TEAM
by
William Doran, Manager.

Kingston Post has no baseball team and the letter has been turned over to Judge Harry Schirick of the local "Colonials."

ANNUAL REUNION AT BOICEVILLE

Ashokan Reservoir District Neighbors Will Gather At Lambert's Grove Labor Day, Rain Or Shine.

As usual, rain or shine, fair weather or foul, come what will, the Boiceville Reunion of all former or present residents of Boiceville, Shokan and the reservoir district generally, will be held at the beautiful Lambert Grove in Boiceville on Labor Day, September 5th. There will be no long speeches, no political harangues, no side shows, but just a chance for neighbor to greet and visit with old neighbor and a chance to break bread together.

Everybody brings just a little more grub than is necessary for the family, in case a visitor drops in to share it. The Godfather of the institution, the beloved Mr. Lambert, will be there, also the Rev. M. Ingersoll, with one of his short inspiring talks, and H M Eppes of Accord to help everyone sing the old songs together. The weather is due to be fair this year, so let everybody come with abundance of good grub and the neighborly spirit.

About That Skeleton.

Joseph A. Bower, owner of the farm on which the skeleton of a negro was found Monday, desires The Freeman to state that the farm has been in the possession of the Bower family upwards of thirty years during which time they never employed any help. He recalls having heard his father state that a former owner had a negro in his employ. Louis Ummerie, Frank Sanford and William Stanley, who were with Mr. Bower when the skeleton was found, were drawing sand for William Lawton's foundry, where they are employed.

MAJOR DELANOY HERE.

Inventor Of Tear Gas Used By Police Departments.

Major Delanoy was in Kingston on Tuesday renewing old acuaintances He will be remembered as the man who was captain of Company I, 71st Regiment, when that company was quartered at the state armory here during the World War. From Kingston he was sent to Spartanberg and became a member of the gas division. He became an expert in gas and during the war traveled over the country instructing gas units for service overseas. Owing to his ability he was unable to secure his discharge from the service until six months ago. He is now developing the tear gas which is being used by some of the larger police departments in the country to dispel mobs While in Kingston Tuesday he met and talked with Major Chandler and a number of other friends he had made while stationed at the armory here.

Sugar Dividend Passed.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Aug. 17.—The directors of the Cuban-American Sugar Company today passed the dividend on the common stock. Three months ago the dividend was reduced from $1 to 50c a share. The regular quarterly preferred dividend of 1¾ was declared. The low price and large stock of sugar was responsible for the suspension of the dividend, the company announced. The directors of the National Sugar Company today reduced the quarterly dividend from $2.50 to $1.75.

New Receivers Named.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Aug. 17—Emmet McCormick and Herbert Noble were appointed today by Judge Manton in the Federal court joint receivers for the United States Mail Steamship Company in a joint bond of $50,000.

McCormick is a member of the shipping firm of Moore and McCormick. Noble belongs to the law firm of Noble, Estabrook and McHarg.

Their appointment followed the refusal of Arthur J. Baldwin to serve as receiver.

Muscle Shoals Offer a Fake.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 17.—The telegraphic offer for the Muscle Shoals, Ala., nitrate plant, which Secretary of War Weeks received yesterday, probably was a "fake," the secretary said today. The offer was supposed to have come from an official of the Alabama Power Company, but the secretary said he had been unable to identify the signer of the telegram as connected with the power company.

FARM BUREAU PICKS STAR TEAM

The Farm Bureau has picked its team for the great picnic ball game on Wednesday, August 31. Following is the tentative line up: Dave Burgevin, captain and second base; Abe Jansen, pitcher; Chet. Young, first base. Bill Warren, right field; Fred DuBois, center field; Ed. Hathaway, catcher; Johnny Saxe, third base; Fatty Chase, short stop, Will Haviland, left field.

With material which of course is not so good to pick from, the Chamber of Commerce is having some difficulty in getting together a team of the class of the Farm Bureau selection. Many are declining to join the city team on the ground that is would make them appear ridiculous to enter a game with antagonists of the style and dash of these farmers.

The respective managers of the teams are consulting together to promulgate special rules to govern the game. A special form of lightning ball is to be adopted. The composition of this ball is of course secret but a reporter by signing the required bonding papers was able to obtain one. To be fair to the public and standing more or less in the position of umpire, it was deemed advisable to have an examination of one of these balls made by an expert cremist Such examination reveals the following analysis: one third ground glass, probably to obtain that lightning quality; three-fourths powered sand burrs, used no doubt to enable the players to hold the ball; one-half solid lead, for body; Bureau chemist is at a loss to know why these eggs were used but he thinks they were probably put in to offer some incentive for the players of one side to throw them at the others.

There are other materials in the ball, such as gun cotton, T. N. T. sea foam, powered charcoal, slippery elm, etc., but as these are used in all league balls no particular stress is laid on them. It can safely be said after examination that there is nothing so remarkable about these balls that the managers should have attached the word "special" to them They are just fair balls and noth ng more.

A "special" catapult is being built at the home plate to throw D Burgevin and F Chase to first base after they hit the ball It is not expected these machines will be used much, as so far no means have been devised to get the players around back to the home plate.

The distance between bases has been lengthened to twelve hundred feet to give the fielders time to get the ball back in the diamond before dark.

As further details are arranged, The Freeman will be glad to give them to the public.

Cross Ocean In 24 Hours.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 17—Plans for the "aero cruiser," a giant dirigible which is claimed to be capable of a 24-hour flight to London from New York, are going forward speedily and successful tests of a new type of motor have just been completed at Detroit, the Aero-Cruiser Corporation of America announced from its offices here today. The new motor, a tandem, will be capable of propelling a 530-foot "aerocruiser," with a gas capacity of 3,800,000 cubic feet more than a million feet greater than the capacity of the ZR-2, the announcement declares. The company engineers claim that their proposed dirigible will be able to carry from 200 to 250 persons through the air at a speed of 100 miles an hour or more.

Thoreau on Channing.

I heard Channing lecture to-night. It was a bushel of nuts. Perhaps the most original lecture I ever heard. Ever so unexpected, not to be foretold, and so sententious that you could not look at him and take his thought at the same time. You had to give your undivided attention to the thoughts, for you were not assisted by set phrases or modes of speech intervening. It was all genius, no talent. For, well as I know C., he more than any man disappoints my expectation. When I see him in the desk, hear him, I cannot realize that I ever saw him before. He will be strange, unexpected, to his best acquaintance. I cannot associate the lecturer with the companion of my walk. The lecture was full of wise, acute, and witty observations, yet most of the audience did not know but it was mere incoherent and reckless verbiage and nonsense.—"Henry David Thoreau," by F. B. Sanborn.

Where Darwin Was Wrong.

Talk about Darwinian theory of development, and the principle of natural selection! I should like to see a garden left to run in accordance with it. If I had left my vegetables and weeds to a free fight, in which the strongest specimens only should come to maturity, and the weaker go to the wall, I can clearly see that I should have had a pretty mess of it. It would have been a scene of passion, license and brutality. This "pusley" would have strangled the strawberry; the upright corn, which has now come to bear the guilty [illegible] of the heads of children who steal the raspberries, would have been dragged to the earth by the wandering beans; the snake grass would have left no place for the potato under ground; and the tomatoes would have been swamped by the lusty weeds. With a firm hand I have had to make my own natural selection.—Charles Dudley Warner.

Olive Oil on Babies' Diet.

Dr. E. L. Graham of Philadelphia recommends the addition of olive oil to the diet of babies in their first two years. It is digested well by most infants and supplies them with additional fat.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Aug. 17.—Stocks were in free supply this morning and the market sustained fresh losses. Mexican Petroleum declined ⅝ to 90¼. Royal Dutch receded ⅝ to 48. Sinclair Oil declined ¼ to 17. Texas company advanced ⅛ to 32¾. Retail Stores declined ½ to 49¾. U. S. Steel declined ⅜ to 73½. General Asphalt was off ½ at 42½. Reading was unchanged at 66⅞. General Electric was off ⅝ to 110⅛. American Sugar was unchanged at 62½, and U. S. Rubber was down ⅜ to 47⅝. By the end of the first fifteen minutes, however, Mexican Petroleum was forced down 1⅞ to 89 and United Fruit fell 1⅝ to 99⅛. Railway Steel Spring dropped 1½ to 69. U. S. Industrial Alcohol declined nearly one point to 44½. Declines of ⅛ to ½ took place in the railway shares. Business was on a very limited scale.

Mexican Petroleum and one or two others were singled out for attack. Mexican Petroleum was forced down two point to 89 and United Fruit fell to 99⅛. By 11 o'clock, however, bearish pressure had relaxed and Mexican Petroleum rallied 1½ from the low. For the first time this week recoveries brought a number of stocks above the previous closing prices.

The action of the market was more spirited in mid-afternoon although the volume of dealings showed little if any increase. Covering of short contracts was obviously the main incentive. By the beginning of the last hour some stocks showed net gains. Railway Steel Spring showed a net improvemtnt of 2 points at 71. Recoveries of one point or more from the early prices resulted in net advances ranging from ½ to one point in American Woolen, American Locomotive, Baldwin Locomotive and Crucible. A weak feature was New York Air Brake which showed a loss of three points at 50.

The market closed strong; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds steady.

Where Milk is Cheap.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Wheeling, W. Va., Aug. 17.—Milk is retailing her today for six cents a quart. A price war is the cause.

A Useful Fish.

They have a remarkable fish in Nova Scotia. It is known as the frost fish, because it can be frozen solid; but if placed in water it soon thaws out and swims around as vigorously as ever. The natives, we are told, use this fish in making ice cream. The fish is caught, frozen and placed in the cream. In thawing out it freezes the cream and its movements at the same time beat the mixture, making it nice and smooth. It is a fresh water fish, but the story requires a lot of salt.

Candles on Birthday Cakes.

The custom of placing candles on a birthday cake—one for each year—comes from Germany. The Germans placed a thick one in the center, called Lebenslicht, the light of life. Only he or she who celebrates his or her birthday may put out the light of life; it is unlucky if done by any other member of the family. The lights are symbols of life and its years. For persons advanced in years one candle must do duty, as otherwise too many would be required.

Telephone to Deaf.

The receiver of a telephone set for the deaf that has been invented in Germany is small enough to be hidden in a person's ear while the transmitter can be carried in a handbag or fastened to clothing.

The peasants of the Abruzzi district in Italy pay yearly devotion during the festival of Santo Gennaro. They creep on their hands and knees from the entrance of the cathedral to the altar and during the journey chant prayers of thanks, each time kissing the floor. This custom dates back for centuries. The photo shows "The crawl of the faithful."

Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks are here shown taking their daily dip in the pool in the garden of their home, which is known as "Pickfair" and which is located near Hollywood, California. This is the first occasion on which Miss Pickford has consented to be snapshotted in a bathing suit. Note the mustache Doug. has raised.

Confirmed Superstitious Belief.

An instance of the coastal belief that a horse always goes back to its old home after death is reported by a British Columbia reader. A contractor lost a horse by drowning on the west coast of Vancouver island. It was towed out to sea; next day it floated back in again. The carcass was again towed out, only to return to the beach four days after. On both occasions it was towed several miles before being cast adrift; also a strong ebb tide was running at the time.

Remarkable Work of Art.

A remarkable medal was exhibited on Lincoln's birthday by Anton Ericksen of Minneapolis, a metal engraver. The medal, of gold, is only the size of a 1-cent piece, yet it contains on one side, in beautiful detail, a medallion of the head of Lincoln and on the other the entire Gettysburg address, totaling 1,200 words. The address cannot be read by the naked eye, but under a magnifying glass it becomes perfectly distinct.

Snake Hypnotized Hen.

An Alberta (Canada) reader says that a farmer and his wife noticed a hen in the yard standing very still but squeaking in a terrified manner. They watched it a few moments but could see no cause for her fear. They went out and found a snake looking at the hen. The hen didn't move until the snake was driven away, so they supposed the hen had been hypnotized.

Monsigneur Ceretti, who is regarded as one of the ablest diplomats in the Vatican, has been appointed the Vatican's Ambassador to France. After a break of fifteen years between France and the Church of Rome, Monsigneur Ceretti is the first Papal Nuncio returned to Paris.

Peculiar Relationship.

In a well-known town in New Brunswick a man and his son were courting a woman and her daughter. The father married the daughter and the son the mother. The daughter thus became the mother-in-law to her mother and the son father-in-law to his father.

Lake Poets Marked by Simplicity.

The term "Lake Poets" was applied by the Edinburgh Review, early in the nineteenth century, to a group of poets, whose chief representatives—Wordsworth, Southey and Coleridge—lived in the lake district of England. The Lake Poets protested against the stiff and formal poetry in vogue and were distinguished by their simplicity of style and close adherence to Nature. Charles Lloyd and Wilson also were included under the designation. The lake district is a region in the northwestern part of England, comprising the counties of Westmoreland and Cumberland, together with a small part of Lancashire. There are about sixteen lakes in the district, which extends about thirty miles north and south and twenty-five miles east and west, and abounds in picturesque mountain scenery. It is visited annually by thousands of tourists.

Flag Etiquette.

When the flag passes in a parade or review, the spectator should, if walking, halt, if sitting, arise, stand at attention and salute. Civilians should remove their hats although women are expected only to stand respectfully until the colors pass. All men in uniform of any branch of the army and navy are required to stand at attention and salute until the colors have passed.

The designer says that this is a typical Spanish creation. The Spanish air is there, for the hat is trimmed with a comb of the pattern used in Spain. The other trimming, which looks like a roped portiere, is a drop veil not made of chenille. The entire creation is by Rendel and the chapeau was exhibited at the Retail Milliners' Association Show.

To The Citizens of Ulster County

Your attention and consideration to the following is respectfully requested, and it should be to your interest to digest its meaning in full.

President, John Schuhle, Highland, N. Y.

The Bachelet Medical Appliance Co., Inc., of Kingston, N. Y., is organized under the laws of the State of New York. The Directors and Officers are:

Pres. and Gen. Mgr. Schuhle's Pure Grape Juice Co.
Treas. Sahler's Sanitarium, Kingston.

Vice President, P. F. O'Rourke, Highland, N. Y., and San Diego, Cal.

Lawyer.

Secretary, J. B. Hoecker, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Manufacturing Optician.

Treasurer, Schuyler C. Schultz, Kingston, N. Y.

Pres. Shatemuck Realty Co.
Partner, Schultz & Bogart, Insurance.

The above officiary is a guarantee that the business of this company will be conducted in a legitimate and business-like manner, with every precaution and safeguard for the interests of investors.

THE PURPOSE OF THE COMPANY is the manufacture of the Bachelet Electro-Magnetic Therapeutic Wave Generator, now being used by reputable physicians throughout the country with such success that the demand for this appliance is increasing far in excess of our original expectations.

ALL OUR PRODUCTS ARE COVERED BY BASIC PATENTS, issued to Mr. Emile Bachelet and now owned and controlled exclusively by this company—hence, we have no competition in our particular line of production. Our field is as big as the world itself, as wherever humanity exists, there is need of a BACHELET. Physicians, Hospitals, Sanitariums, Podiatrists, Beauty Parlors, Baths and private individuals provide an unlimited demand for the different types of appliance which we manufacture.

THE SALE OF OUR PRODUCT is now being handled by some of the largest medical supply houses in the United States and we are continually receiving inquiries from other dealers at home and abroad who are anxious to take over the sale of the BACHELET as soon as they can be assured of a constant supply sufficient to meet the demands of their trade.

This company is at present realizing a very satisfactory profit from the sale of its product, and with increased production and decreasing cost of raw materials, a much larger margin of return is assured.

YOU can become associated with us in this business, which offers such good money-making possibilities, and you owe it to yourself to get the facts first hand by detaching and mailing the coupon below.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 17—The administration bill giving the War Finance Corporation authority to extend credits to the railroads was ordered favorably reported by the senate interstate commerce committee today by a vote of 7 to 2.

Senators voting for the bill were Poindexter, Kellogg, Watson, McLean, Townsend, Frelinghuysen, Republicans, and Pomerene, Democrat. Senators voting against the bill were LaFollette, Republican, and Stanley, Democrat.

The bill will be reported to the senate today but will go on the calendar and no action is anticipated on it before the proposed recess.

State Funeral For King Peter.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Belgrade, Aug. 17—Preparations are under way today for an imposing state funeral for the venerable King Peter, who is dead at the age of 76 after a long illness. His death made no change in the government of Jugo Slavia as Prince Regent Alexander has been the ruler of the country since the war. The death of Peter brought to an end one of the most stormy and spectacular careers in Europe. He ascended the throne of Servia after his predecessor had been murdered, but it was never proven that Peter had instigated the assassination. Peter lived to see the dream of his life realized—the expansion of his country to the Adriatic absorbing Albania and Slav territory formerly owned by Austria, Greece and Bulgaria.

The Collar Price War.

The 15 cent collar will now come back. Tuesday at Troy the wholesale price was cut by Cluett, Coon & Company to $1.45 a dozen, a drop of 20 per cent. From that fixed by other Troy manufacturers. Last week Cluett, Peabody & Company cut wholesale collar prices from $2.10 to $1.90 a dozen, and Monday Earl & Wilson cut the price to $1.75.

CANFIELD'S HAT IS IN THE RING

Files Petition At Last Minute And His Name Goes On The Primary Ballot—Other Contests—Full List Of Names On Primary Tickets.

Tuesday was the last day for filing petitions designating candidates for county and city offices with the Ulster county board of elections and the commissioners kept their office in the county building, John and Crown streets, open last night until midight. The official designations by the Republican, Democratic and Prohibition organizations were filed early. As was foretold in The Freeman, Palmer Canfield, Jr., present mayor, who failed to secure the recommendation for designation of the Republican unofficial city convention as their choice for nomination, filed a petition with the board of elections shortly before midnight and will contest for the nomination with Walter P. Crane the convention's choice, at the primary on September 13. His petitions had about 750 signers, 500 more than necessary under the state election law. There will be a contest for the nomination on the Republican ticket for supervisor between Charles H. Van Gaasbeck and Floyd Weiss who each received 91 votes at the Third ward caucus. Charles H Buchholtz and Josiah Doughty, Republicans, are contesting for the nomination for alderman in the Tenth ward. There will be Democratic contests in the Seventh ward for nomination for supervisor between Joseph Schuler, the present incumbent, and Anthony Bowers who filed a petition. In the same ward Nicholas A. Huber and Joseph A. Kelly, Democrats, will contest on Primary Day, for nomination for alderman.

August 26 is the last day to file declination certificates, and August 30 the last day to fill vacancy after declination of desination.

Tagging All The Bases.

The lowly Phils held the Pirates to an even break but they gained a half game on the Giants, thanks to Babe Adams winning of the second half of the twin bill.

Those ambitious Dodgers took the measure of McGraw's men with Grimes on the mound by making a three-run rally in the ninth.

The winning streak of the Browns was broken by Detroit. The Tigers hammered Van Gilders hard.

The sore great Alex held no fears for the Braves who knocked him into the showers of the sixth. Cruise hit a homer into the right field bleachers, one of the longest possible hits in big league parks.

Home run hitters yesterday—King, Philadelphia, 2; Cruise, Braves, 1; Suter, 1, Whitted, 1, Johnston, 1, all Brooklyn; Blue, Detroit, 1; Burnhart, Pirates, 1; Tierney, Pirates, 1; Olsen, Brooklyn, 1.

Completion Of Ranch Plant.

Although the Ranch plant has been thoroughly inspected and the improvements made as suggested by the state board of health to eliminate the stench, complaints are being made by the residents that the stench has not been eliminated and is as strong as ever. The board of health has been notified.

The "Printed" Pattern—a Wonderful Aid to Busy Mothers!

MAKING clothes for the kiddies or yourself successfully and quickly depends upon the pattern you use.

The New McCall Pattern is "Printed" and therefore a wonderful help to busy housewives who, in the cause of economy, make most of the clothes for their family and themselves.

It is just what you've always thought a pattern should be—simple and easy to follow. All directions for cutting and sewing are printed, in plain words, right on each piece of the pattern itself. No puzzling circles and perforations that made the old-style pattern so difficult to handle.

The New McCall "Printed" Pattern saves you time and worry over possible mistakes!
